As winter quarter comes to a close, we want to thank you all for your hard work, your care for your students, your engagement with your creative and scholarship work, your leadership in shared governance of the university, and your mentorship of students and colleagues. We hope that during spring break you are intentional about your well-being and engage in activities that are restorative and bring you joy.

Spring 2023 Resources

NEW! Spring 2023 Course Resources: Each term, TEP and UO Online update resources that are meant to help you prepare and keep up with Canvas online course setup for students who have received the online course checklist.

- You’ll find adaptable Canvas modules that orient students to the course, streamline absences reporting, and define and outline academic and grading integrity. There is a “starter syllabus” that incorporates all UO-required policies as well as many sample course policies—even new examples related to artificial intelligence systems. We also highlight key spring terms dates.

In response to faculty questions, we offer samples of template-neutral course syllabus and, in partnership with the Accessible Education Center, a resource on accommodations.

Exam proctoring for online classes: These services will be relocated to rooms 041 and 042 of Knight Library in spring term, as UO prepares to create a single destination for proctoring services on campus. If you use the UO Center Exam Center to proctor exams for your online class, please advise students of this temporary location change.

AEC accommodations for Canvas exams: If you have created Canvas assessments that are timed or time-limited, you may need to adjust settings for students with accessibility accommodations. Modifying Course to Access for Additional Time and Learning will guide you through the process.

Need more assistance with Canvas exam settings or grading? Walk-in support is available weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in PLC 6B. You can also call 541-346-1942 or email UO Online for assistance.
