Dear Colleague,

I'm sad that this will be the last Emerging Destinations Africa newsletter that you receive from me. After 8 1/2 years with Emerging Destinations, I have accepted a position with Singita.

Although I'm incredibly excited about this new adventure, I'll miss my Emerging Destinations team terribly. I've learned and grown so much under Jane's wing and am so thankful for this amazing journey. But I won't be far! Please feel free to connect with me on LinkedIn or social media. I do hope our paths cross again in the future.

In other news, JW Marriott's Group Director of Sales and Marketing Matthew Ngoka will be in the Toronto area November 23-25 and the Denver area December 5-7. If you'd like to join Jenna and Matthew for the breakfast they are hosting in both cities, please reach out to Jenna here.

Lastly, be sure to check out EcoTraining's amazing photo course, adventures at Avani Vic Falls, Babanango's antidote for stress and Uganda's cutest animals below.

Best regards,

Jessie

A note from Jane: Jessie has grown tremendously since she started with me. We are going to miss her and wish her all the best! Jenna Farber, will be working with me on our Africa accounts, with support from Ana.
