latest on what's happening at your County Extension Office. Don't forget to visit our website at https://www.extension.arizona.edu/maricopa

We conducted a record number of field and lab trials. Our collaborators from the UArizona, plus representatives from the USDA-ARS and industry. The Program partnered with our Yuma Colleagues and held a Healthy & Delicious Veggies Virtual programming.

We engaged in public service activities in person and online. The Arizona Agriculture in the Classroom (AZ-AIC) program was conducted online and distributed to teachers and students across Arizona. Many of the changes that occurred in 2020 were in response to COVID-19 and the need to maintain social distancing.

We provided more educational programming than any other year. Attendees of the Program increased significantly in March and April, with a peak in April. The changes were very significant and happened in a short time. However, the situation showed how resilient our ag communities, the Programs, and personnel are. The changes were very significant and happened in a short time. However, the situation showed how resilient our ag communities, the Programs, and personnel are.

We continue to communicate with clientele through the weekly newsletter, phone calls, and online platforms. The Program stakeholders engaged in these activities more than ever before. We have been able to maintain our clientele relationships and continue our work through these challenging times.

We are excited to continue this important work in 2021 and beyond. We look forward to continuing with the online Ask a Master Gardener as another tool for horticulture questions. Now that we have Master Gardener trainings and a system in place, questions, publications, and advice are then shared with the attendees. We are looking forward to continuing our education efforts and engaging with our clients in the coming months.

We are committed to conducting our research and Extension activities in a safe and effective way. The other side of the situation showed how resilient our ag communities, the Programs, and personnel are. The changes were very significant and happened in a short time. However, the situation showed how resilient our ag communities, the Programs, and personnel are.

We are grateful for the support of our clientele and community partners. We look forward to continuing our work together in 2021 and beyond.