

Dear Colleague,

Greetings from sunny, warm summer in Buenos Aires, where I'll be for the next two weeks until I embark on a new sales trip to the U.S. (+ Christmas shopping on the weekend!).

This month's newsletter comes with exciting news: We've added Hidalgo Tours DMC in Bolivia to our portfolio of cool companies in cool places. Hidalgo was a tourism pioneer in the southern part of the country and owns the Palacio de Sal Hotel in the Uyuni Salt Flats (the world's first salt hotel).

As 2023 comes to an end, we are ready to embark on our last sales trips for this year: I'll be traveling across Texas the second week of December while my colleague Jenna will be in Toronto and Montreal the last week of November. Please see our exact dates below and drop us a line if you want to meet in person and/or get invited to the events we're hosting.

At this stage, I'm sure you're all working on 2024 travel plans for your clients. Read the blogs below for some inspiration, as well as the specials and latest news from our clients in the Americas portfolio.

To our American colleagues, Happy Thanksgiving!

Best regards,

PS: In the picture below, I'm sharing some great party time in Playa del Carmen with our clients Judy from Enchanted Expeditions and Ariel and Gustavo from La Coralina Island House.

Colombian Journeys

- New entry fee for Canadian travelers. As of November 14th, the Colombian government has reintroduced a fee for Canadian travellers entering the country. The payment of COP $253,000 or its equivalent in Canadian dollars (around 86 CAD), will be for the control and verification procedure in the system. Once the passengers arrive in national territory, they will be able to make the payment by dataphone at the immigration control post. Exceptions apply for minors under 14 years of age and whose destination of entry and stay in Colombia is the Archipelago of San Andres, Providencia and Santa Catalina.
- Best Tourism Villages 2023. The World Tourism Organization (WTO) in its 29th General Assembly named the best tourism villages of 2023. Among the 260 applicants only 54 villages were selected, of which 2 are Colombian: Zapatoca in Santander and Filandia in Quindío. This recognition highlights the efforts of these rural towns and their commitment for preserving community-based values, innovation, and sustainable development. In addition, the small town of Iza in Boyacá was selected to participate in the Best Tourism Village Upgrade Programme in order to be part of the 2024 winners list.
- Cartagena, best cultural city. In the TravelBook Awards 2023, Cartagena was chosen as the "Best Cultural City" in the world, recognizing its extensive cultural heritage, welcoming atmosphere, and human warmth of the local community. In this city with colorful streets, flower decorated balconies and colonial buildings of more than 500 years old, travelers can visit the Old Historic Center, its magnificent palaces, the Aduana plaza, the Gold Museum, the Naval Museum, the Museum of Modern Art, among other things. The city has a great cultural richness that makes it stand out as one of the most impressive cultural destinations in South America.

- One of the coolest neighborhoods in the world is in Medellin. Each year, TimeOut Travel magazine gathers the opinions of more than 12,000 readers about the neighborhoods that attract the most tourists and local visitors. This year, the Laureles neighborhood in Medellín was chosen as the coolest in the world, known for its entertainment offer with a variety of restaurants and bars, being the home of the Atanasio Girardot Stadium and being surrounded by relaxing areas including parks, tree-lined streets, yoga studios and cafeterias.
