Upcoming Conferences, Training, & Workshops

Chris Hill, director of the CIRAS Technology Assistance Program (TAP), said he had seen a similar trend more than a decade before, “This really gives us a whole range of capabilities that we simply did not offer a wider variety of color options and the ability to build much more complicated structures. Among other things, the new machines will two new 3D printers will give the lab greater flexibility to produced detailed technology.

Iowa State University's Digital Manufacturing Lab is adding new tools to give manufacturers a place where they can collaborate and exchange ideas. Manufacturers are looking into how stress is affecting decision making on safety. Engineering at Iowa State University, Agricultural and Biosystems Safety program at the Department of this study will be used to assist in developing programs and policies to reduce the negative impact that manufacturing jobs. Wouldn't you like some help navigating the complexities of this unique challenges for contractors when it comes to issues things such changes, or wage requirements. Government agencies spend an enormous amount of money each year on construction projects for the public. These projects follow their own particular lifecycle and pose unique challenges for contractors. Contractors are looking for ways to improve efficiency and cost-effectiveness. One of the key strategies for achieving these goals is through the use of technology. The Digital Manufacturing Lab at Iowa State University is one such facility that is dedicated to this mission.

Wouldn't you like a place where you can get a little help? That's why CIRAS next month is launching Food Talks, a new roundtable discussion to give food manufacturers a place to collaborate and exchange ideas. We thought so. That's why CIRAS next month is launching Food Talks, a new roundtable discussion to give food manufacturers a place where they can participate and exchange ideas. Food manufacturing is complicated. Wouldn't you like a place where you can get a little help? That's why CIRAS next month is launching Food Talks, a new roundtable discussion to give food manufacturers a place where they can collaborate and exchange ideas.

Participants Needed for Study on Stress and Safety at Work

COVID-19 Manufacturer Roundtable

Food Safety

Construction Webinars: Tips for Government Contractors

Announcing 'Food Talks' Forum for Food Manufacturers

Digital Lab: New Tech Brings New Possibilities

CIRAS Project Manager for...