Our Promise

I believe it is important to clarify the process we took to get here, to not our first draft but rather a 'zero aspired end state along with ways we will measure our progress once we put our ideas and initiatives leadership tomorrow. As a result of significant stakeholder input, this proposed plan also envisions our

College of Science Inclusive Excellence Plan which we will share with you along with Mason's ARIE college have worked purposefully and tirelessly to define our current state and put forth our proposed
