To continue receiving our emails, add us to your address book.

Contents of This Month’s Update

December

Transnational organized crime in the Americas.

Event taking place on February 17, 2021, featuring Celina Realuyo.

Spring 2021 Upcoming Events

CINA Distinguished Speaker Series:

Diana Davis Spencer Foundation Awards $450,000 to George Mason School for New National Security Scholarships

Mary Ellen O'Toole, CINA's science manager, has said that the CINA Science Committee has released a Request for Proposals (RFP) for the Spring 2021 CINA Science Committee.

Cina Recruits Deanna Austin

Deanna Austin. Deanna brings a wealth of experience and knowledge to the center, we are very pleased to welcome her.

We are proud to support that mission and work, and we are happy to report two items related to these efforts. First, we recently hired a full-time CINA Workforce Development Lead, and second, we released our annual RFP this week. The Request for Proposal is intended to develop and prepare future national security professionals and leaders who will study in one of the Schar School's four security-oriented master's programs: Master's in International Security, Master's in Security Studies, Master's in Intelligence, and Master's in Cybersecurity.

The CINA mission is supported by three core activities: help DHS with current problems, foresee DHS challenges and opportunities of the future, and help educate the current and future DHS workforce. As part of the second activity, the CINA Science Committee this month wrote in his recommendation letter.

Deanna Austin. Deanna brings a wealth of experience and knowledge to the center, we are very pleased to welcome her.

We are proud to support that mission and work, and we are happy to report two items related to these efforts. First, we recently hired a full-time CINA Workforce Development Lead, and second, we released our annual RFP this week. The Request for Proposal is intended to develop and prepare future national security professionals and leaders who will study in one of the Schar School's four security-oriented master's programs: Master's in International Security, Master's in Security Studies, Master's in Intelligence, and Master's in Cybersecurity.

The CINA mission is supported by three core activities: help DHS with current problems, foresee DHS challenges and opportunities of the future, and help educate the current and future DHS workforce. As part of the second activity, the CINA Science Committee this month

We are proud to support that mission and work, and we are happy to report two items related to these efforts. First, we recently hired a full-time CINA Workforce Development Lead, and second, we released our annual RFP this week. The Request for Proposal is intended to develop and prepare future national security professionals and leaders who will study in one of the Schar School's four security-oriented master's programs: Master's in International Security, Master's in Security Studies, Master's in Intelligence, and Master's in Cybersecurity.

The CINA mission is supported by three core activities: help DHS with current problems, foresee DHS challenges and opportunities of the future, and help educate the current and future DHS workforce. As part of the second activity, the CINA Science Committee this month

We are proud to support that mission and work, and we are happy to report two items related to these efforts. First, we recently hired a full-time CINA Workforce Development Lead, and second, we released our annual RFP this week. The Request for Proposal is intended to develop and prepare future national security professionals and leaders who will study in one of the Schar School's four security-oriented master's programs: Master's in International Security, Master's in Security Studies, Master's in Intelligence, and Master's in Cybersecurity.

The CINA mission is supported by three core activities: help DHS with current problems, foresee DHS challenges and opportunities of the future, and help educate the current and future DHS workforce. As part of the second activity, the CINA Science Committee this month

We are proud to support that mission and work, and we are happy to report two items related to these efforts. First, we recently hired a full-time CINA Workforce Development Lead, and second, we released our annual RFP this week. The Request for Proposal is intended to develop and prepare future national security professionals and leaders who will study in one of the Schar School's four security-oriented master's programs: Master's in International Security, Master's in Security Studies, Master's in Intelligence, and Master's in Cybersecurity.

The CINA mission is supported by three core activities: help DHS with current problems, foresee DHS challenges and opportunities of the future, and help educate the current and future DHS workforce. As part of the second activity, the CINA Science Committee this month

We are proud to support that mission and work, and we are happy to report two items related to these efforts. First, we recently hired a full-time CINA Workforce Development Lead, and second, we released our annual RFP this week. The Request for Proposal is intended to develop and prepare future national security professionals and leaders who will study in one of the Schar School's four security-oriented master's programs: Master's in International Security, Master's in Security Studies, Master's in Intelligence, and Master's in Cybersecurity.

The CINA mission is supported by three core activities: help DHS with current problems, foresee DHS challenges and opportunities of the future, and help educate the current and future DHS workforce. As part of the second activity, the CINA Science Committee this month

We are proud to support that mission and work, and we are happy to report two items related to these efforts. First, we recently hired a full-time CINA Workforce Development Lead, and second, we released our annual RFP this week. The Request for Proposal is intended to develop and prepare future national security professionals and leaders who will study in one of the Schar School's four security-oriented master's programs: Master's in International Security, Master's in Security Studies, Master's in Intelligence, and Master's in Cybersecurity.

The CINA mission is supported by three core activities: help DHS with current problems, foresee DHS challenges and opportunities of the future, and help educate the current and future DHS workforce. As part of the second activity, the CINA Science Committee this month

We are proud to support that mission and work, and we are happy to report two items related to these efforts. First, we recently hired a full-time CINA Workforce Development Lead, and second, we released our annual RFP this week. The Request for Proposal is intended to develop and prepare future national security professionals and leaders who will study in one of the Schar School's four security-oriented master's programs: Master's in International Security, Master's in Security Studies, Master's in Intelligence, and Master's in Cybersecurity.