April 21, 2021 | 1 to 3 p.m. (posters available to view throughout the week)

2021 Undergraduate Research Colloquium

April 28, 2021 | 8 to 10 p.m.

Virtual Evening Under the Stars with Jenna Cann

Join a discussion with

April 27, 2021 | 4 to 5 p.m.

Mason Science Series: Seeking the Invisible: Detecting Supermassive Black Holes in Space

April 30, 2021 | 1:30 to 3 p.m.

Learning Assistant Virtual Poster Session

Celebrate the work of Mason Science's Learning Assistants by attending a virtual poster presentation where they will share their teaching experiences.

They will share their teaching experiences.

Intratumor heterogeneity (genomic and biological variations within the same tumor specimen).

Chemistry PhD student Greg Petruncio recently contributed to a study on an imaging technique that helps visualize Breast Cancer. Chemistry and Biochemistry scientists help improve breast cancer detection and treatment.

Read the publication

Watch graphic simulation

Dr. Thomas Lovejoy, Department of Environmental Science and Policy

Mason researcher's work informs known risks of flying during COVID-19

In addition, I am proud to announce that many of our faculty, staff, and students have distinguished themselves during what some might say is an unprecedented year to navigate. Join me in congratulating them both in this post and via social media.