A NOTE FROM THE VICE PRESIDENT

Dear LSU families,

It was great to see those of you who were able to make it to Spring Family Fling! If you could not be in attendance, you missed a good time! I have just a few items that I would like to share with you today.

Midterms are here, and it's a great point in the semester to send a care package to your

Tiger. Favorite snacks, gift cards, and notes of encouragement are all wonderful items to send to show support and let them know you're thinking of them.

Please continue to encourage your Tiger to go to class and share the importance and benefits of attendance. One simple way you can do this is to end conversations with your student with reminders like, "I love you. Go to class." Another thing to encourage is asking for help when they need it. LSU has a wealth of resources we want your Tiger to take advantage of. Among those is the Center for Academic Success, a nationally certified Learning Center of Excellence. The center is a wonderful go-to resource for supplemental instruction, tutoring, academic coaching, and overall support to help your student put their best foot forward academically.

Speaking of academics, LSU consistently ranks high in numerous areas, both nationally and globally. One of the many examples is oceanography, where we rank 24th in the world and 15th in North America. To provide an unparalleled student experience, we also continuously seek to improve our research and classroom facilities, like the newly renovated Barnes Ogden Art & Design Complex.

We recognize students' need to be well-rounded and match their outstanding academic experience with exciting events, programs, experiences, and opportunities, to fill their 153 hours outside the classroom each week. While you are speaking with your Tiger, ask how they are filling their spare time. There are plenty of options to recommend to them:

- Check out TigerLink to find a student organization to get involved in.
- Meet with a career coach to review their résumé and start finding summer experiences.
- Join an intramural sports league.
- Meet with a wellness coach at the Student Health Center.
- Engage with the community through service. Geaux Big, LSU's largest single day of student service to the Greater Baton Rouge community, will be held on April 15.

As always, we are here for you and your Tiger. We appreciate your partnership in supporting our scholars, encouraging their growth, and challenging them to excel. I hope you have a fantastic month!

Geaux Tigers!
