To continue receiving our emails, add us to your address book.

HAPPENING THIS FALL

Professor Jim Kinter, Department of Atmospheric, Oceanic, and Earth Sciences Professor
August 25, 2021 | 1:30 p.m.

In this fall, Mason scientists will be offering the following seminars and events:

- Stearns Center Webinar: How to Check the Quality of Your Online Courses and Online Teaching
  - August 20, 2021 | 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.
  - The Stearns Digital Learning Quality Assurance Team will share essentials for online course quality and provide tips for how to work with the Online Quality Checklist. Check out their online resources.

- New Virginia STEM Education Advisory Board
  - Padmanabhan (Padhu) Seshaiyer, Mason professor named to state STEM Education Advisory Board that will advise Governor Ralph Northam.
  - To help restock the shelves of the Patriot Pantry, a gift of $40 to the Student Food and Housing Insecurity Fund will provide one Mason student a week's worth of food and toiletries otherwise be able to afford food and toiletries.

- Student Support and Advocacy Center
  - As students return to campus, the Student Support and Advocacy Center urges the Mason community to help restock the shelves of the Patriot Pantry, a gift of $40 to the Student Food and Housing Insecurity Fund will provide one Mason student a week's worth of food and toiletries otherwise be able to afford food and toiletries. A gift of $40 to the Student Food and Housing Insecurity Fund will provide one Mason student a week's worth of food and toiletries otherwise be able to afford food and toiletries.

- International Association for Lichenology
  - Mason Scientists to start research aimed at protecting endangered sea turtles and Education Center Faculty Fellow, Scott Glaberman, are set to receive funding to study the Kemp's ridley—the most endangered sea turtle in the world.

- Brazil
  - Professor George Mason University professor, James Lawrey, Assistant Professor, Potomac Environmental Research Education Center (PEREC), are set to receive funding to study the Kemp's ridley—the most endangered sea turtle in the world.

- Mason Science Community
  - Biology professor receives Acharius Medal
  - Biology professor receives Acharius Medal

- MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN
  - Yo...