Spring 2020 Department Newsletter

Volume 6, Issue 2

A Message from the Department Chair
Suzanne Boyd

Welcome back to the Spring semester! As we return to campus, with classes resuming in-person and online, I want to take a moment to thank you all for your recent efforts to make this happen. Your dedication and resilience are truly remarkable.

I encourage you to attend the annual Math Day on Friday, April 10. This event is a great opportunity to celebrate the accomplishments of our students and faculty. Please feel free to reach out if you have any questions.

Class Coverage Procedures

For your reference, the following procedures are in place for class coverage:

- Faculty members must report an unexpected absence or illness to their department chair or a designated substitute care manager. If no substitute care manager is identified, the department chair or the dean’s office should be contacted.

- Substitute care managers are responsible for providing coverage on a short-term basis.

- Faculty members are encouraged to contact the department chair or dean’s office to discuss potential long-term coverage options.

- Substitutions must be arranged through the department chair or dean’s office.

- Faculty members should report any unexpected absences to their department chair or dean’s office.

Ewald’s Student Handbook

The Ewald’s Student Handbook is available online. It contains important information about academic policies, procedures, and resources for students.

Online Form Request Forms

If you require any form requests, please submit them through the appropriate form request system.
