A Message from Dean Genetti

Friends,

It has been an incredibly challenging time for our UC Santa Barbara community, and I want to take this opportunity to thank all of you for the support you have shown one another. We are all in the midst of an incredibly challenging time in the global response to the COVID-19 virus. In an effort to minimize the risk of exposure in the Santa Barbara community, UC Santa Barbara is offering only remote instruction for Spring Quarter. Additionally, all on-campus research has been shut down. This is obviously having a large impact on our graduate student community and we are all working hard to assist them in this difficult period.

As of now, the university will remain in the lockdown phase and will not be returning to campus anytime soon. We have created a set of Corporate Affiliates that resides on the GradPost and that we are constantly updating. Our staff has been meeting with graduate students virtually and providing all of their regular services via email and Zoom calls.

We appreciate all of your support as we work hard to ensure that our graduate students continue to receive the same great world class education that you received.

Please know that we are not looking at this as a break in the academic calendar. It is obvious that students are having to work very hard to complete their program and we want to support them in every way possible. We are planning to have the fall quarter as an on-campus experience but this will depend on the status of the virus.

In the meantime, I am here to assist you. If you have any questions about your program, or are concerned about anything, please don’t hesitate to reach out to me. Our staff is here to support you.

Stay well,
Dr. Carol Genetti
