A Message from Dean Genetti

Dear Students,

We are all in the midst of an incredibly challenging time in the global response to the COVID-19 virus. In an effort to minimize the risk of exposure in the Santa Barbara community, UC Santa Barbara is offering only remote instruction for Spring Quarter. Additionally, all on-campus research has been shut down. This impacts all graduate students, whether you are here on campus or remotely.

Our staff in the Graduate Division are working hard to assist them in this difficult period. We have created a set of resources that resides on the GradPost and that we are making available to you.

We understand that many of you have milestones that you would like to share. Contact John Lofthus at john.lofthus@ucsb.edu.

We appreciate all of your support as we work hard to ensure that our graduate students continue to receive the same great world class education that you would expect from your home institution.

Sincerely,

Anne and Michael Towbes Graduate Dean

A Message from the Graduate Student Resource Center

COVID-19: Updates for Students

Graduate students at UC Santa Barbara are experiencing significant changes in their education and research due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The Graduate Division and Graduate Student Resource Center are working hard to ensure that students can continue their studies and research remotely. Graduate students are encouraged to stay connected with their peers, faculty, and advisors through virtual meetings and online resources.

Graduate students are advised to check their email regularly for updates and important information. The GradPost, a virtual newsletter, is also a valuable resource for graduate students. The GradPost includes updates on changes to campus policies, information about remote research opportunities, and resources for students who are struggling with mental health and well-being.

Milestones

If you have a milestone that you would like to share with your peers, please contact John Lofthus at john.lofthus@ucsb.edu. We are here to support you through this challenging time.