A Reflection from your University Chaplain

Dear Tufts community,

As we prepare to welcome graduates' families and friends from around the world and to celebrate their accomplishments and aspirations in coming days, I have been drawn once again to one of the historic stained-glass windows at Goddard Chapel (pictured above).

The artisans who designed and hand-painted the window, etching multicolored hues onto glass oak leaves, acorns, sky, and sunbeams, were not just creating a beautiful piece of art. They were telling a story. The wreath of leaves surrounding a scroll evokes the prophet Isaiah's promise and call to his community that they would one day become "oaks of righteousness." This window was designed to be a memorial to two key Tufts founders, Charles Tufts and Silvanus Packard. Today, I believe, it's an invitation to all of us who enter the chapel or gaze at it from underneath the Dawn Redwood tree outside to ourselves become "oaks of righteousness" - people who bind up the brokenhearted, who repair their communities and our world, who raise each other up.

At its heart, Commencement Weekend is about raising one another up – raising up every graduate from all of our programs and schools, raising up the faculty and staff devoted to their learning and flourishing, raising up the beloved family and friends who have supported them along the way.

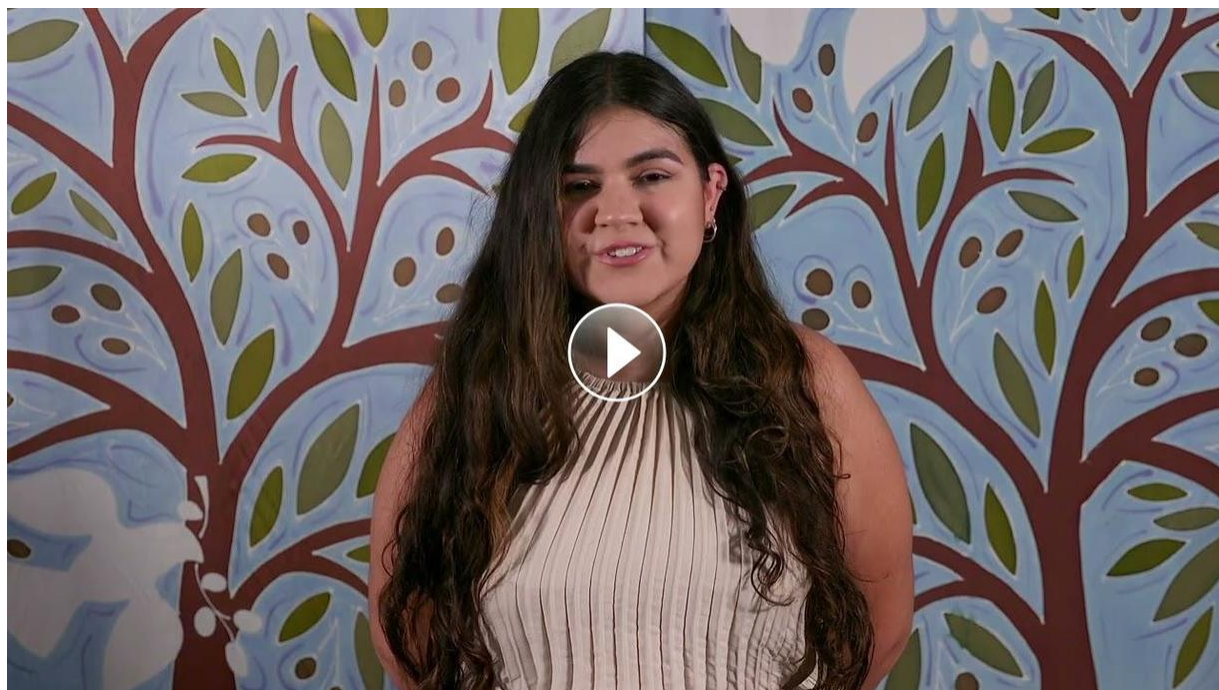

The University Chaplaincy gets to play a special role in this raising up, particularly with AS&E (Arts, Sciences, and Engineering) graduating seniors, as we host our annual multifaith Baccalaureate Ceremony. This gathering reflects the contours of ceremonies through the generations with contemporary twists. A jazz procession of campus leaders and students; petitions of thanks and joy crafted by this year's seniors; a video of students reflecting on their time at Tufts; photo montages of the Class of 2024 accompanied by a student string quartet; and multifaith blessings from our chaplains: all provide the scaffolding for two central addresses—the Wendell Phillips Award winner Saffiyah Coker, A24, and the Baccalaureate speaker, President Sunil Kumar.

In addition to Baccalaureate, the University Chaplaincy is hosting many events in the coming days. If you are a graduating student, a friend or family member of a graduate, or an alum celebrating one or sixty years since your graduation, I hope you will join us! All events at Goddard Chapel and the Interfaith Center are open to all Tufts community members and friends.

Saturday, May 18, 2024, 3:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m., seniors please arrive by 2:15 p.m.

We are so looking forward to hosting the Class of 2024 and their guests for the 160th Baccalaureate Ceremony. Seniors, please wear your cap and gowns! The hour will include the Wendell Phillips Address from Saffiyah Coker, A24, live music, and the Senior Video and slideshow. See below for some common questions, and you can email the University Chaplaincy with any additional questions.

What is the Baccalaureate Ceremony?

The Baccalaureate Ceremony celebrates the graduating class the day before the Commencement Ceremony. The Baccalaureate Ceremony is a unique multifaith celebration that incorporates music, speeches from President Monaco and a graduating senior, and chaplains' blessings into one celebration that has been personalized for your class. This tradition began in 1864 at Tufts.

How is the Baccalaureate Ceremony different from Commencement?

While the Commencement Ceremony is launching you fully into your post-Tufts experience, the Baccalaureate Ceremony is the last time your class will be together to connect over your shared experience as Tufts students. Baccalaureate features student voices, song, and opportunities to reflect; we invite you throughout the Ceremony to reflect on your own experience of Tufts. Commencement is also for all graduating Tufts students, including graduate and professional students, while the Baccalaureate Ceremony is just for undergraduates and their guests.

You can find more information, including an extended FAQ about the event, through the link below.

Frontiers Kindling the Humanist Spark: Igniting a Network of Young Leaders

Friday, August 2 through Monday, August 5

Students and Young Professionals are invited to the inaugural Kindling the Humanist Spark Leadership Convention, hosted by the Humanist Chaplaincy at Tufts University and Atheists United. The convention will take place at Tufts University on the Medford, Massachusetts campus. The aim of this convention is to bring together students and young professionals (aged 18-35) from across North America to cultivate a vibrant ecosystem for young humanist leaders. At the heart of this event are mentorship, networking, and the establishment of strong relationships within the humanist community. As we envision the emergence of this ecosystem committed to work and inspire the next generation of humanist leaders. We hope you can join us in building an inclusive and empowering community where individuals can access resources, network with seasoned leaders from the humanist movement, learn from peers, and initiate collaborative initiatives for socially just and sustainable futures.

Ascension of Jesus

Thu., May 9, 2024

Tradition: Christianity-Protestant, Christianity-Roman Catholic

The celebration of Jesus' ascension into heaven and enthronement as universal sovereign. It comes 40 days after Easter. The date observed by Protestants and Roman Catholics is often different from the date observed by Orthodox Christians.

Wesak (Buddha Day)

Wed., May 15, 2024

Tradition: Buddhism

The commemoration of Buddha's birth, enlightenment, and parinirvana, celebrated on the day of the full moon of the sixth lunar month in Southeast Asian cultures; in Tibetan culture, Wesak commemorates only the the enlightenment and parinirvana. The dates of this celebration vary significantly among Buddhist cultures and communities.

Pentecost

Sun., May 19, 2024

Tradition: Christianity-Protestant, Christianity-Roman Catholic

(Or Whitsunday.) The commemoration of the coming of the Holy Spirit upon the disciples of Jesus following his ascension, Pentecost is considered the "birthday" of the Christian church (Acts 2:1-11). It comes 50 days after Easter (Pascha, Orthodox Easter). Roman Catholic and Protestant Christians often observe Pentecost on a different date from Orthodox Christians.
