Preparing Off-Campus Homes for Breaks

- Unplug your television, toaster, computer, and other appliances.
- Get lights that are on a timer.
- Unplug electric lights and chargers in your dorm room.
- Lock all doors and windows, including the bedroom door.
- If your spare key is in a plastic rock, under the mat, in the mailbox, or in another obvious location, consider removing it while you are on break.
- Ask a friend or neighbor to watch over your home while you are away (including mail).

Office of Student Conduct will reach out to the student to check their WCU email. If your student has received a letter from the Student Conduct Reminders regarding policy violations, we encourage you to check their email and discuss it with your student.

Preparing for Winter Break

- Students in the work study program can apply to work over the winter break by completing the application form.
- Students who are applying for additional financing to pay for winter courses can apply for a fall term loan (August to December) so they can use their refund to pay for a winter course.
- Students who are applying for additional financing to pay for winter courses can apply for a fall term loan (August to December) so they can use their refund to pay for a winter course.
- If the student has an anticipated credit balance (is expecting a refund for the spring) they may contact the Bursar’s office to ask for a portion of this refund to be used to pay for a winter course.
- Successful completion of assignments and exams can add extra points to a student’s GPA.
- We recommend that families express their unconditional love and support throughout the year, not just at exam time.
- The students recently received a letter from me listing resources to success and how to reach for help.
- Knowing the resources to success and how to reach for help is part of becoming independent. Your support is important to students feeling supported socially, as well as academically.
