
Frustration over lingering snow and cold temperatures. Classes, discussion of plans for the summer as students plan for internships, summer jobs, or taking friends. Excitement about spring break plans and disappointment about COVID implications. Anxiety over mid-term results.

West Chester, the university honoring military service members, reservists, and their families. At West Chester, we work very hard to recognize and support those who have made great sacrifices to serve our country as members of the U.S. military.

One of the most important things that a university can do is to provide a student-centered environment that makes it possible for students to achieve their academic goals and prepare for their futures. At West Chester, we are committed to supporting our students in every way we can.

Weather-wise, March can be an unpredictable month. Days of sunshine and warmth will send students outdoors as they enjoy the spring weather. It still feels like there is plenty of time left in the semester, so there is not a great urgency to get work done. The transition from the military to civilian life can be challenging, but Lillian Morrison, a veteran herself, can help.

The Greg and Sandra Weisenstein Veterans Center is the hub of campus programming for student veterans, as well as a graduate assistant. The center provides resources, too. The transition from the military to civilian life can be challenging, but Lillian Morrison, a veteran herself, can help.

The Office of Parent and Family Relations is here to help. As always, please be in touch if you have any questions or concerns, I am more than happy to assist.

Greetings Ram Fam!
