We invite you to read more about the year's cohort, our first Next System Fellows. If so, you should consider applying to become a Next System Fellow. Application Deadline: Saturday, November 15th, 2022, 5:00 PM Eastern Standard Time (EST).

EnergyTech UP is truly a career-building experience unlike any other. Last year, the competition was open to students, inspire ideas around energy technologies that teams can use to develop innovative solutions to climate challenges. The next round of the competition is now open. Students can enter up to three stories in five categories — best science narrative, most compelling character, most creative story, best use of science or data, and best scalable innovation. Winners will travel to Iceland for a six-day voyage with Lindblad Expeditions aboard the National Geographic Resolution in July 2023, with a team of naturalists, photo instructor, and an expert in energy technology.

The U.S. National Science Foundation announced a new $20 million investment in NSF launches entrepreneurial fellowships for engineers who are interested in innovation, entrepreneurship, and advanced manufacturing. The Innovation in Advanced Manufacturing Research and Education (I/MARE) program is launching a new series of entrepreneurial fellowships for research and education in innovative manufacturing and advanced materials. The fellowships will provide opportunities for engineers to learn about entrepreneurship, innovation, and advanced manufacturing research. Application Deadline: Wednesday, November 30, 2022, 5pm ET.

The U.S. Department of Commerce announced the launch of the RISE (Research, Innovation, and Support for Entrepreneurs) Challenge. RISE will award up to $1.5 million to businesses with solutions that reduce flood insurance premiums and payouts by 50%. The innovation competition will award up to $1.5 million to businesses with solutions that reduce flood insurance premiums and payouts by 50%. Companies submitting integrated solutions will receive up to $750,000. All winners gain access to Lab Space, co-working office and testing space, and introductions to regional businesses.

The innovation competition will award up to $1.5 million to businesses with solutions that reduce flood insurance premiums and payouts by 50%. Companies submitting integrated solutions will receive up to $750,000. All winners gain access to Lab Space, co-working office and testing space, and introductions to regional businesses.

The Center for Fiscal Equity (CFE) is a non-profit organization that seeks to increase the visibility of and engagement with the work of researchers focused on fiscal equity. CFE offers a range of services to researchers, including funding for research, technical assistance, and a network of researchers and practitioners who can provide support and mentorship. Please use this link to access the CFE webpage. Please use this link to access the CFE webpage.

Today@Mason: Today@Mason is a weekly newsletter that provides information about events, news, and happenings at George Mason University. The newsletter is designed to keep the Mason community informed and engaged in the university's activities. It contains information about upcoming events, news, and updates from the various colleges and schools at Mason. Please visit the Today@Mason website for more information.

The Mason Sustainability Office (MSO) is dedicated to promoting sustainable practices and policies at George Mason University. The MSO works to integrate sustainability into all aspects of university life, from campus operations to academic programs. The MSO offers a range of services to support sustainability efforts, including resource management, waste reduction, and energy conservation. Please visit the MSO website for more information.

The Mason Center for Humanities Research is a research center that promotes interdisciplinary research and scholarship in the humanities. The center supports research and teaching in a range of fields, including history, literature, art, and philosophy. The center offers a range of programs and initiatives to support humanities research, including grants, fellowships, and conferences. Please visit the Mason Center for Humanities Research website for more information.

The Mason School of Integrative Studies is a unit of George Mason University that offers a range of programs designed to promote social and environmental justice. The school offers a range of undergraduate and graduate programs, including a Bachelor of Arts in Social Justice and Environmental Sustainability, a Master of Arts in Social Justice, and a Doctor of Philosophy in Social Justice. The school also offers a range of services to support social and environmental justice efforts, including a community engagement office and a justice studies minor. Please visit the Mason School of Integrative Studies website for more information.

The Mason Potomac Science Center is a research facility that supports scientific research and education. The center offers a range of services to support scientific research, including laboratory space, equipment, and expertise. The center also offers a range of programs and initiatives to support scientific education, including a science outreach program and a science communication minor. Please visit the Mason Potomac Science Center website for more information.

The Mason College of Social Sciences is a school of George Mason University that offers a range of programs in the social sciences. The college offers a range of undergraduate and graduate programs, including a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science, a Master of Arts in Social Work, and a Doctor of Philosophy in Political Science. The college also offers a range of services to support social science research, including a social science research center and a social science library. Please visit the Mason College of Social Sciences website for more information.

The Mason University Library is the main research library at George Mason University. The library offers a range of services to support research, including access to a range of resources, including books, journals, and databases. The library also offers a range of programs and initiatives to support research, including a research support team and a research support center. Please visit the Mason University Library website for more information.

The Mason School of Policy, Government, and International Affairs is a school of George Mason University that offers a range of programs in policy, government, and international affairs. The school offers a range of undergraduate and graduate programs, including a Bachelor of Arts in International Affairs, a Master of Arts in Public Policy, and a Doctor of Philosophy in Public Policy. The school also offers a range of services to support policy research, including a policy research center and a policy research library. Please visit the Mason School of Policy, Government, and International Affairs website for more information.

The Mason National Capitol Center is a research and policy center that supports research and policy analysis in the areas of government, politics, and public policy. The center offers a range of services to support research and policy analysis, including a research center, a policy research center, and a policy research library. The center also offers a range of programs and initiatives to support research and policy analysis, including a research support team and a policy research support team. Please visit the Mason National Capitol Center website for more information.

The Mason Office of Community Engagement is a unit of George Mason University that supports community engagement efforts. The office offers a range of services to support community engagement, including a community engagement office, a community engagement center, and a community engagement library. The office also offers a range of programs and initiatives to support community engagement, including a community engagement support team and a community engagement support center. Please visit the Mason Office of Community Engagement website for more information.

The Mason Office of Community Service and Volunteerism is a unit of George Mason University that supports community service and volunteerism efforts. The office offers a range of services to support community service and volunteerism, including a community service office, a community service center, and a community service library. The office also offers a range of programs and initiatives to support community service and volunteerism, including a community service support team and a community service support center. Please visit the Mason Office of Community Service and Volunteerism website for more information.

The Mason Office of Multicultural Affairs is a unit of George Mason University that supports multicultural affairs efforts. The office offers a range of services to support multicultural affairs, including a multicultural affairs office, a multicultural affairs center, and a multicultural affairs library. The office also offers a range of programs and initiatives to support multicultural affairs, including a multicultural affairs support team and a multicultural affairs support center. Please visit the Mason Office of Multicultural Affairs website for more information.

The Mason Office of Institutional Research and Planning is a unit of George Mason University that supports institutional research and planning efforts. The office offers a range of services to support institutional research and planning, including a research and planning center, a research and planning office, and a research and planning library. The office also offers a range of programs and initiatives to support institutional research and planning, including a research and planning support team and a research and planning support center. Please visit the Mason Office of Institutional Research and Planning website for more information.

The Mason Office of Institutional Effectiveness and Planning is a unit of George Mason University that supports institutional effectiveness and planning efforts. The office offers a range of services to support institutional effectiveness and planning, including a research and planning center, a research and planning office, and a research and planning library. The office also offers a range of programs and initiatives to support institutional effectiveness and planning, including a research and planning support team and a research and planning support center. Please visit the Mason Office of Institutional Effectiveness and Planning website for more information.

The Mason Office of Research and Economic Development is a unit of George Mason University that supports research and economic development efforts. The office offers a range of services to support research and economic development, including a research and development center, a research and development office, and a research and development library. The office also offers a range of programs and initiatives to support research and economic development, including a research and development support team and a research and development support center. Please visit the Mason Office of Research and Economic Development website for more information.

The Mason Office of Sponsored Programs is a unit of George Mason University that supports sponsored programs efforts. The office offers a range of services to support sponsored programs, including a sponsored programs office, a sponsored programs center, and a sponsored programs library. The office also offers a range of programs and initiatives to support sponsored programs, including a sponsored programs support team and a sponsored programs support center. Please visit the Mason Office of Sponsored Programs website for more information.

The Mason Office of Technology Transfer and Intellectual Property Management is a unit of George Mason University that supports technology transfer and intellectual property management efforts. The office offers a range of services to support technology transfer and intellectual property management, including a technology transfer office, a technology transfer center, and a technology transfer library. The office also offers a range of programs and initiatives to support technology transfer and intellectual property management, including a technology transfer support team and a technology transfer support center. Please visit the Mason Office of Technology Transfer and Intellectual Property Management website for more information.

The Mason Office of University Mission and Strategic Initiatives is a unit of George Mason University that supports university mission and strategic initiatives efforts. The office offers a range of services to support university mission and strategic initiatives, including a strategic initiatives center, a strategic initiatives office, and a strategic initiatives library. The office also offers a range of programs and initiatives to support university mission and strategic initiatives, including a strategic initiatives support team and a strategic initiatives support center. Please visit the Mason Office of University Mission and Strategic Initiatives website for more information.

The Mason Office of University Relations is a unit of George Mason University that supports university relations efforts. The office offers a range of services to support university relations, including a university relations center, a university relations office, and a university relations library. The office also offers a range of programs and initiatives to support university relations, including a university relations support team and a university relations support center. Please visit the Mason Office of University Relations website for more information.

The Mason Office of University Technology Transfer is a unit of George Mason University that supports university technology transfer efforts. The office offers a range of services to support university technology transfer, including a technology transfer center, a technology transfer office, and a technology transfer library. The office also offers a range of programs and initiatives to support university technology transfer, including a technology transfer support team and a technology transfer support center. Please visit the Mason Office of University Technology Transfer website for more information.

The Mason Office of Universitywide Technology Transfer is a unit of George Mason University that supports universitywide technology transfer efforts. The office offers a range of services to support universitywide technology transfer, including a technology transfer center, a technology transfer office, and a technology transfer library. The office also offers a range of programs and initiatives to support universitywide technology transfer, including a technology transfer support team and a technology transfer support center. Please visit the Mason Office of Universitywide Technology Transfer website for more information.