Dear Colleagues,

Thank you for all that you and your loved ones are doing to support our students this winter. This month, the Vice President for University Engagement will offer a few updates on how Duke has been preparing for the election, and we will remind you of the resources available for students.

First, thank you for your continued efforts to support undergraduate inside and outside of the classroom this term. We hear from students and faculty both report that the student-employee partnership approach has gone above and beyond to engage and support them in all platforms. From last-minute finals, to this year’s frustrations of a larger number of students outside your teaching and where we see the students’ gratitude.

Of course, managing the stresses of the pandemic, anxiety, and uniquely challenging semester has been difficult for all of us. As we approach the final term, we hope you and the information and reminders offered below will be helpful and timely.

Faculty, Student Health, and Wellness

First and foremost, we encourage you to take the time to prioritize your own wellbeing. In addition to your usual support, Duke offers a variety of resources to support faculty wellness. The Personal Assistance Service (PAS) is available for immediate support, and there are many counseling resources on the DukeReach platform. Also, don’t forget that any voter eligible to vote in Durham County can vote in the Duke early voting site at the Karsh Alumni Center through October 31. Between now and November 2nd, student leaders of Duke Votes are available to provide information to your students about where, when, and how to vote via a brief live presentation to Duke reaches.

This email was sent to: [Email].

As always, if you have questions, please don’t hesitate to reach out. We are here to support you in any way we can.

Resources for Faculty, Students, and the Election

Dear Colleagues,

As we turn our attention to the election, there are several resources available to support faculty wellbeing. The Personal Assistance Service (PAS) is available for immediate support, and there are many counseling resources on the DukeReach platform. Also, don’t forget that any voter eligible to vote in Durham County can vote in the Duke early voting site at the Karsh Alumni Center through October 31. Between now and November 2nd, student leaders of Duke Votes are available to provide information to your students about where, when, and how to vote via a brief live presentation to Duke reaches.

This email was sent to: [Email].

As always, if you have questions, please don’t hesitate to reach out. We are here to support you in any way we can.

Resources for Faculty, Students, and the Election

Dear Colleagues,

As we turn our attention to the election, there are several resources available to support faculty wellbeing. The Personal Assistance Service (PAS) is available for immediate support, and there are many counseling resources on the DukeReach platform. Also, don’t forget that any voter eligible to vote in Durham County can vote in the Duke early voting site at the Karsh Alumni Center through October 31. Between now and November 2nd, student leaders of Duke Votes are available to provide information to your students about where, when, and how to vote via a brief live presentation to Duke reaches.

This email was sent to: [Email].

As always, if you have questions, please don’t hesitate to reach out. We are here to support you in any way we can.

Resources for Faculty, Students, and the Election

Dear Colleagues,

As we turn our attention to the election, there are several resources available to support faculty wellbeing. The Personal Assistance Service (PAS) is available for immediate support, and there are many counseling resources on the DukeReach platform. Also, don’t forget that any voter eligible to vote in Durham County can vote in the Duke early voting site at the Karsh Alumni Center through October 31. Between now and November 2nd, student leaders of Duke Votes are available to provide information to your students about where, when, and how to vote via a brief live presentation to Duke reaches.

This email was sent to: [Email].

As always, if you have questions, please don’t hesitate to reach out. We are here to support you in any way we can.

Resources for Faculty, Students, and the Election

Dear Colleagues,

As we turn our attention to the election, there are several resources available to support faculty wellbeing. The Personal Assistance Service (PAS) is available for immediate support, and there are many counseling resources on the DukeReach platform. Also, don’t forget that any voter eligible to vote in Durham County can vote in the Duke early voting site at the Karsh Alumni Center through October 31. Between now and November 2nd, student leaders of Duke Votes are available to provide information to your students about where, when, and how to vote via a brief live presentation to Duke reaches.

This email was sent to: [Email].

As always, if you have questions, please don’t hesitate to reach out. We are here to support you in any way we can.

Resources for Faculty, Students, and the Election

Dear Colleagues,

As we turn our attention to the election, there are several resources available to support faculty wellbeing. The Personal Assistance Service (PAS) is available for immediate support, and there are many counseling resources on the DukeReach platform. Also, don’t forget that any voter eligible to vote in Durham County can vote in the Duke early voting site at the Karsh Alumni Center through October 31. Between now and November 2nd, student leaders of Duke Votes are available to provide information to your students about where, when, and how to vote via a brief live presentation to Duke reaches.

This email was sent to: [Email].

As always, if you have questions, please don’t hesitate to reach out. We are here to support you in any way we can.