Fund for Education Abroad

U.S. undergraduates who intend to study abroad. Selected students receive up to $5,000 towards study abroad expenses including travel costs. FEA is currently accepting applications from students intending to study abroad during Summer 2022. This funding is intended to support the continued international development and mentorship.

Fellowship is a path to a career in the Foreign Service. This two-year fellowship provides undergraduate and graduate students with up to $75,000 in academic funding for an IT-related degree (junior and senior year of a bachelor's degree or first and second year of a master's degree). Fellows also get two summer internships (one in Washington, D.C. and one at an embassy or consulate abroad), professional development, and networking with Department of State and FEA leaders.

The APAICS Kakehashi Program to Japan (March 15-22, 2022) is designed to promote people-to-people exchange between Japan and the United States. The program will provide participants with an enhanced understanding of Japanese economics, society, history, culture, politics, and diplomatic policies and encourage individuals to play an active role in shaping U.S.-Japan relations. The students selected to participate in the program shall be comprised of individuals from Asian American families or have some Asian ancestry. Open to U.S. citizens or U.S. permanent residents, currently enrolled undergraduate or graduate students.

RISE for Undergraduate Students

RISE stands for Research Internships in Science and Engineering. RISE Germany offers undergraduate students a paid opportunity to complete a summer research internship at top German universities and research institutions. Students are matched with a host university or institute according to their academic background and research interests.
