Faculty Volume

January 2023

January Faculty Spotlight

Daniel Murphy, an assistant professor in the department of Physics & Astronomy, is sharing his passion for astronomy into engaging classes that encourage students to consider as you establish an inclusive and welcome learning environment.

Teaching & Learning Innovation invite anyone from UT to attend our 2023 Innovative Teaching and Learning Conference. This year's conference will be held virtually on Thursday, March 23, 2023. This is a friendly reminder to all of you at this year's conference which will be held virtually on Thursday, March 23, 2023.

Don't Forget...TLI is Here to Help!

Please find below a short list of recommended resources as well as departments and colleges, including:

- TLI's Service Request Program
- CRC participants
- Scholarship of Teaching & Learning Support
- Lifelong Learning Book Club
- CIRTL F.U.E.L.
- Introduction to Online Teaching Certification Seminar
- Spring 2023 Workshops and Programs Are Here!
- Mid-Course Feedback
- Classroom Observations
- Scholar of Teaching & Learning Support
- Professional Student Appreciation Week Workshops, Coffee Luncheon.

This spring, we are offering 5 workshop series to meet the needs of our stakeholders:

1. Effective Classroom Assessments
2. Teach Efficiently and Effective and Have a Life Beyond
3. Management: How to Manage Your Time So You Can
4. Development and Diversity will lead a new professional
5. Relationships, Connections Drive Success in College

Additionally, we offered our new faculty, staff, and students are all welcome!

January Graduate Student Spotlight

Dr. Elisabeth Schussler, Professor of Ecology and Evolutionary Biology and 2022-2023

Dr. Schussler will be the keynote speaker at the 2023 Innovative Teaching and Learning Conference. She is a faculty member in the Department of Biological Sciences and aims to promote a community of support around lifelong learning for teachers and students alike. So faculty, staff, and students are all welcome!

January Faculty Spotlight:

Daniel Murphy, an assistant professor in the department of Physics & Astronomy, is sharing his passion for astronomy into engaging classes that encourage students to remember class material but also explore more biological topics that interest them after class.

We are still looking forward to seeing you at this year's conference which will be held virtually on Thursday, March 23, 2023. This is a friendly reminder to all of you at this year's conference which will be held virtually on Thursday, March 23, 2023.