Traditions, Curriculums and Making Mason Memorable

In this Issue

- Message from the Dean
- Happening at Mason
- In the News
- IN THE NEWS
- Events

Message from the Dean

Hi Mason community,

We are excited to announce that Mason’s National Social Science Week, which will take place from September 6th to September 10th, is now underway. This week is a great opportunity for students, faculty, and staff to learn about the latest research and developments in the social sciences at Mason.

One of the highlights of this week will be the Mason Science Community Lunch on September 14th from 12 pm to 1 pm in the Blackstone Room. This lunch will feature a presentation by Dean Miralles-Wilhelm on the latest developments in Mason Science.

We encourage you to make plans to attend this event and to participate in other activities throughout the week. For more information, please visit the National Social Science Week website.

Best regards,

[Dean’s Signature]

In the News

- Helping others understand the world through mathematics
- Studying mathematical methods for materials and biological network analysis

Happening at Mason

- Faculty Meeting featuring Q&A with Dean Miralles-Wilhelm
- Submit your questions to Dean Miralles-Wilhelm by Friday, September 10, to participate in the Q&A session.

IN THE NEWS

- Studying mathematical methods for materials and biological network analysis
- Helping others understand the world through mathematics

Events

- Mason Science Community Lunch on September 14th from 12 pm to 1 pm in the Blackstone Room
- Mason Science #FacultyFriday to highlight NSF student professor
- More on her work

Stay Connected

© 2021 George Mason University