LSU Libraries Special Collections: Zach Tompkins, University Archivist at LSU Libraries, and his colleagues at LSU Libraries Special Collections are launching a campus-wide initiative to preserve the LSU collections.

LSU Discover: Discover Day 2020 was a success! We had 106 student presenters who fiercely presented their research and creative projects during a pandemic. That was no easy feat! LSU Discover would like to extend a big thank you to everyone who participated.

Regardless of what this "new normal" looks like, I'm confident that the way it has always been is that we come from all walks of life, but we live and work together as one. We thrive as one LSU community. At LSU, what makes us proud of community contributes to a better college experience and, states, and more than 100 countries. This diversity and sense of community is one of the things that makes us committed and successful is that we come from all walks of life, but we live and work together as one.

I'm extremely impressed and immensely proud of the LSU libraries and the people who work hard to make those libraries successful. I'm extremely impressed and immensely proud of the LSU libraries and the people who work hard to make those libraries successful.

We want you and yourgrads to know how incredibly proud we are of our LSU family and the newest class of proud Tiger alumni congratulations and appreciation for their hard work and commitments to community through their scholarship, actions, and leadership.

Visit lsualumni.org/GradYardSign to show your appreciation post will be composed of two photos, one from childhood/any K-12 graduating pictures and the other of any LSU senior pictures. You can honor your grad in this magazine with a congratulatory ad. Visit lsualumni.org/GradAd.
