Contents of this Month's Update

RFP open period (June 2020 – June 2021).

an opportunity for submissions to be accepted at any time during

CINA, DHS, and/or its federal partners are currently facing, or are

CINA continues to welcome

Paper Submissions

free conference, and like previous COE Summits, we also welcome your questions, thoughts, combined COE-DHS network is formidable, but if there is one thing we have all learned, it is the common goals of safety and security for our people, our nation, and the world. The works because we have more than enough challenges to fill our plates, we have a strong and

There are related and complementary skills and expertise at the different centers, and we and more broadly by our nation and world.

investment. A microcosm of this approach is the DHS Center of Excellence program. This consideration, open minds, leadership, focus, diligence, discipline, persistence, and also invoking our imagination and creativity to anticipate the problems of tomorrow and blunt solutions with innovative approaches that solve problems better, faster, and cheaper, while addressing risks not yet realized. So how do we tackle this daunting spikey ball of challenges?

The threat landscape facing our nation and world is complex, varied, and dynamic. We are sideways in critical shipping lanes, to natural disasters like hurricanes and floods, the possible climate change, supply chain disruptions, organized criminal activity, and adversarial nation

The threat landscape facing our nation and world is complex, varied, and dynamic. We are

We shouldn't forget

For example:

- International trafficking
- U.S.–Mexico Border
- White-collar crime
- Human trafficking.

While these crimes can manifest themselves in many different forms, their common denominator forms of heinous illicit activities.'