The threat landscape facing our nation and world is complex, varied, and dynamic. We are actively dealing with a global pandemic, mass shootings, foreign and domestic terrorism, states. From deliberate acts like terrorism, to inadvertent events like large ships drifting, the obvious answer is by working together toward common goals, mixing tried and true solutions with innovative approaches that solve problems better, faster, and cheaper, while addressing risks not yet realized. So how do we tackle this daunting spikey ball of challenges?

The threat landscape facing our nation and world is complex, varied, and dynamic. We are actively dealing with a global pandemic, mass shootings, foreign and domestic terrorism, states. From deliberate acts like terrorism, to inadvertent events like large ships drifting. The threat landscape is further complicated by the need to balance security and privacy, and the increasing reliance on technology in our daily lives. This balance is challenging, as we have more than enough challenges to fill our plates, we have a strong and valuable partnership with DHS at all levels, we trust each other, and we are all working towards our shared mission.

Innovative partnerships and collaborations are key to addressing these challenges. It is through collaboration and sharing that we can work together to find solutions to these complex issues. When we work together, we are able to leverage each other's strengths and expertise to come up with innovative, effective solutions.

We cannot do this alone or in a vacuum. The challenges we face are complex, and require a coordinated effort from all levels of government, industry, and civil society. It is through collaboration and sharing that we can work together to find solutions to these complex issues. When we work together, we are able to leverage each other's strengths and expertise to come up with innovative, effective solutions.

The financial system can work to fight modern slavery, as well as sex trafficking, and other forms of heinous crimes including terrorism, and other...