What's next?

Characterizing Political Narratives about COVID-19 on Twitter: Elise Jing

April 30, 2021 | 3 to 4:30 p.m.

Join Elise Jing, a Scientist at Sirius XM + Pandora whose research focuses on understanding narrative data through computational methods derived from natural language processing and text mining.

Learning Assistant Virtual Poster Session

April 30, 2021 | 1:30 to 3 p.m.

Celebrate the work of Mason Science's Learning Assistants by attending a virtual poster presentation where they will share their teaching experiences.

AOES Geology Seminar

April 29, 2021 | 4:30 to 5:45 p.m.

The university still needs volunteers to help at the Patriot Procession, happening May 10 through May 14. They currently need volunteers to read names as graduates cross the stage and greeters to help guide guests towards seats. If you're interested, please sign up.

Fernando S. Miranda-Huamán

What's next?

In this Issue

- Research & Discovery
- Mason Science Community
- Happening at Mason
- Events
- In the News
- Mosaic

Join Fernando S. Miranda-Huamán for his thoughts on what's next at Mason Science.

Full story