

May 2025

Summer means a ton of things! From travel, to rest, to breaks, to even research. Every summer the University of Utah supports undergraduate researchers who embark on a range of summer research experiences including summer program for undergraduate research, undergraduate research opportunity program and other summer funded opportunities with NSF and NIH.

The Office of Undergraduate Research congratulates our UROP scholars for the summer 2025.

Join us on June 17 for the Grad School Mini Expo where you can learn more about grad school, the different types of grad school options, tips for applying, and what to do after grad school. Any undergraduate student interested in grad school are invited, no matter where they are in the process (from “I didn’t think grad school was for me” to “I know which programs I want to go into”). This event is free and includes pizza and snacks.

Scholars' Corner

A collage of images related to undergraduate research. It includes a student working in a lab, a student with a drone, a student presenting at a poster, a student in a lab coat, a student in a red dress, and a student in a field. The central text reads: "UROP Undergraduate Research Opportunity Program Fall 2025 Deadline to apply: June 6". The UROP logo is at the top, and the Office of Undergraduate Studies Undergraduate Research logo is at the bottom left.
