A Letter from the General Manager, Christine Kuzmych

BREATHING BEHIND THE SCENES

New Morning Edition Host & Reporter  Wyoming Public Media welcomes one of America’s top morning radio voices to Wyoming Public Radio’s Morning Edition. Indonesia, the world’s most crowded country, only a half hour south of the capital, Jakarta, home to over 94 million people, has now reported over 200,000 cases of COVID-19. In addition, the city of Jakarta, home to over 14 million people, has now reported over 250,000 cases of COVID-19. In contrast, Wyoming, home to just over 300,000 people, has now reported just over 500 cases of COVID-19. The city of Laramie, home to just over 80,000 people, has now reported just over 200 cases of COVID-19. The music is a way of dealing with the weight our world brings us. Your remedy comes along every Saturday night, in the form of Big Hollow Blues. Wyoming Public Media welcomes new "Wyoming Sounds" host, Naina Rao. Naina enjoys reporting on issues of race and gender, and her reporting has been featured on BBC, Al Jazeera, and the Associated Press. Naina is a former reporter for the Jakarta Post and has covered the 2018 Indonesian presidential election. She is a recent graduate of the University of Michigan Ann Arbor, where she received her bachelor’s degree with distinction in Asian Studies and a minor in creative writing. Naina is currently completing her master's degree in journalism at the University of Wyoming. Naina welcomes you to this new program and invites you to share your stories of dealing with the weight our world brings us. Your remedy comes along every Saturday night, in the form of Big Hollow Blues. Wyoming Public Media welcomes new "Wyoming Sounds" host, Naina Rao. Naina enjoys reporting on issues of race and gender, and her reporting has been featured on BBC, Al Jazeera, and the Associated Press. Naina is a former reporter for the Jakarta Post and has covered the 2018 Indonesian presidential election. She is a recent graduate of the University of Michigan Ann Arbor, where she received her bachelor’s degree with distinction in Asian Studies and a minor in creative writing. Naina is currently completing her master's degree in journalism at the University of Wyoming. Naina welcomes you to this new program and invites you to share your stories of dealing with the weight our world brings us. Your remedy comes along every Saturday night, in the form of Big Hollow Blues. Wyoming Public Media welcomes new "Wyoming Sounds" host, Naina Rao. Naina enjoys reporting on issues of race and gender, and her reporting has been featured on BBC, Al Jazeera, and the Associated Press. Naina is a former reporter for the Jakarta Post and has covered the 2018 Indonesian presidential election. She is a recent graduate of the University of Michigan Ann Arbor, where she received her bachelor’s degree with distinction in Asian Studies and a minor in creative writing. Naina is currently completing her master's degree in journalism at the University of Wyoming. Naina welcomes you to this new program and invites you to share your stories of dealing with the weight our world brings us. Your remedy comes along every Saturday night, in the form of Big Hollow Blues. Wyoming Public Media welcomes new "Wyoming Sounds" host, Naina Rao. Naina enjoys reporting on issues of race and gender, and her reporting has been featured on BBC, Al Jazeera, and the Associated Press. Naina is a former reporter for the Jakarta Post and has covered the 2018 Indonesian presidential election. She is a recent graduate of the University of Michigan Ann Arbor, where she received her bachelor’s degree with distinction in Asian Studies and a minor in creative writing. Naina is currently completing her master's degree in journalism at the University of Wyoming. Naina welcomes you to this new program and invites you to share your stories of dealing with the weight our world brings us. Your remedy comes along every Saturday night, in the form of Big Hollow Blues. Wyoming Public Media welcomes new "Wyoming Sounds" host, Naina Rao. Naina enjoys reporting on issues of race and gender, and her reporting has been featured on BBC, Al Jazeera, and the Associated Press. Naina is a former reporter for the Jakarta Post and has covered the 2018 Indonesian presidential election. She is a recent graduate of the University of Michigan Ann Arbor, where she received her bachelor’s degree with distinction in Asian Studies and a minor in creative writing. Naina is currently completing her master's degree in journalism at the University of Wyoming. Naina welcomes you to this new program and invites you to share your stories of dealing with the weight our world brings us. Your remedy comes along every Saturday night, in the form of Big Hollow Blues. Wyoming Public Media welcomes new "Wyoming Sounds" host, Naina Rao. Naina enjoys reporting on issues of race and gender, and her reporting has been featured on BBC, Al Jazeera, and the Associated Press. Naina is a former reporter for the Jakarta Post and has covered the 2018 Indonesian presidential election. She is a recent graduate of the University of Michigan Ann Arbor, where she received her bachelor’s degree with distinction in Asian Studies and a minor in creative writing. Naina is currently completing her master's degree in journalism at the University of Wyoming. Naina welcomes you to this new program and invites you to share your stories of dealing with the weight our world brings us. Your remedy comes along every Saturday night, in the form of Big Hollow Blues. Wyoming Public Media welcomes new "Wyoming Sounds" host, Naina Rao. Naina enjoys reporting on issues of race and gender, and her reporting has been featured on BBC, Al Jazeera, and the Associated Press. Naina is a former reporter for the Jakarta Post and has covered the 2018 Indonesian presidential election. She is a recent graduate of the University of Michigan Ann Arbor, where she received her bachelor’s degree with distinction in Asian Studies and a minor in creative writing. Naina is currently completing her master's degree in journalism at the University of Wyoming. Naina welcomes you to this new program and invites you to share your stories of dealing with the weight our world brings us. Your remedy comes along every Saturday night, in the form of Big Hollow Blues. Wyoming Public Media welcomes new "Wyoming Sounds" host, Naina Rao. Naina enjoys reporting on issues of race and gender, and her reporting has been featured on BBC, Al Jazeera, and the Associated Press. Naina is a former reporter for the Jakarta Post and has covered the 2018 Indonesian presidential election. She is a recent graduate of the University of Michigan Ann Arbor, where she received her bachelor’s degree with distinction in Asian Studies and a minor in creative writing. Naina is currently completing her master's degree in journalism at the University of Wyoming. Naina welcomes you to this new program and invites you to share your stories of dealing with the weight our world brings us. Your remedy comes along every Saturday night, in the form of Big Hollow Blues.