Excitement over signs of spring; euphoria with any warm weather.

Research tells us that those who have regular conversations with their parents and families about sex and relationships are more likely to be healthy and safe, and are less likely to take risks with their health.

Helping Your Student Navigate a Hold on Their Account

If your student has a judicial hold, that means they have gone through the University conduct process, been found responsible for violating the Student Code of Conduct, and not completed their sanction condition(s) by the required deadline. If a student does not understand why they have a judicial hold on their account, they should contact the Office of Student Conduct at 610-436-3511.

If your student has a hold on their account, you can help by suggesting they:

1. Contact the Office of Student Conduct to understand why the hold was placed.
2. Take steps to resolve the matter, so the hold can be removed.
3. Contact the Office of Parent and Family Relations with any questions about the judicial hold.

While the spring signals a sign of new beginnings, the last few weeks of the semester can be challenging for students. I hope you are enjoying the warmer temperatures after a long snowy winter. When the spring weather changes, I am reminded that we are halfway through the semester. Spring break is two weeks/months away. Consider the energy and enthusiasm back to campus.

I recognize this past year has not been easy for anyone. We look forward to the coming months, despite the weather changes, I am reminded that we are halfway through the semester. Spring break is two weeks/months away. Consider the energy and enthusiasm back to campus.

I am delighted that time has now arrived. While these outside, socially distanced ceremonies may look and feel different, there also will be such joy to see these students be able to gather together as a Rams while enjoying the local trails, mountains, and waterways. No prior experience is required for any of our programs and our highly trained staff provides all the necessary equipment and insight needed for a fantastic experience!
