Celebrate the Achievements of Black Entrepreneurs

In this episode: Cory Booker and others discuss how slavery, housing discrimination and centuries of culture -- featuring interviews with some of the most authoritative experts in their respective fields. In partnership with Vox Media Studios and Vox, this enlightening explainer series will take viewers deep into America's story of racial inequality, starting with Black History Month. In our ENTP 340: Inclusive Innovation class, we kicked off Black History Month hearing the entrepreneurial stories of four inspiring business founders, trailblazers, and changemakers.

Starting with Black History Month. In our ENTP 340: Inclusive Innovation class, we started a conversation with black women founders telling their true life stories that we change the narrative on who gets to become a successful entrepreneur, business founder, trailblazer, and changemaker in America. We did our very best to stay quiet during the campus-wide quiet period, but you know we can't stay quiet for long in ENTP. We have too much to share and we have so much more to learn. In this class, we started a conversation with black women founders telling their true life stories that we change the narrative on who gets to become a successful entrepreneur, business founder, trailblazer, and changemaker in America.

We are very grateful to our guest speakers, Nichole Wilson, Karen Jones, Jemia Cunningham-Elder '09, and Chamilla Banks, for their bravery in sharing their stories.

Karen Jones, CEO and Executive Director of the Chocolate Chips Foundation, is a mother, former educator, business owner, executive coach, and social justice entrepreneur. She is an expert at creating social change through storytelling and mobilizing the people, resources, and networks to solve them.

Nichole Wilson, co-founder of Whole & Free Foods, LLC - Every Body Eat®, is a 2017 Food Startup Competition Winner. She is a savvy entrepreneur, business founder, innovator, and changemaker in America.

Jemia Cunningham-Elder '09, founder of Designs by Jemia, is the newest member of the ENTP team, and founder of Designs by Jemia.

Chamilla Banks, owner of Fit Your Life Into Your Life a business, is an integrated marketing professional, entrepreneur, business founder, innovator, and changemaker in America.

In this class, we started a conversation with black women founders telling their true life stories that we change the narrative on who gets to become a successful entrepreneur, business founder, trailblazer, and changemaker in America.

We are very grateful to our guest speakers, Nichole Wilson, Karen Jones, Jemia Cunningham-Elder '09, and Chamilla Banks, for their bravery in sharing their stories.

Karen Jones, CEO and Executive Director of the Chocolate Chips Foundation, is a mother, former educator, business owner, executive coach, and social justice entrepreneur. She is an expert at creating social change through storytelling and mobilizing the people, resources, and networks to solve them.

Nichole Wilson, co-founder of Whole & Free Foods, LLC - Every Body Eat®, is a savvy entrepreneur, business founder, innovator, and changemaker in America.

Jemia Cunningham-Elder '09, founder of Designs by Jemia, is the newest member of the ENTP team, and founder of Designs by Jemia.

Chamilla Banks, owner of Fit Your Life Into Your Life a business, is an integrated marketing professional, entrepreneur, business founder, innovator, and changemaker in America.

In this class, we started a conversation with black women founders telling their true life stories that we change the narrative on who gets to become a successful entrepreneur, business founder, trailblazer, and changemaker in America.

We are very grateful to our guest speakers, Nichole Wilson, Karen Jones, Jemia Cunningham-Elder '09, and Chamilla Banks, for their bravery in sharing their stories.

Karen Jones, CEO and Executive Director of the Chocolate Chips Foundation, is a mother, former educator, business owner, executive coach, and social justice entrepreneur. She is an expert at creating social change through storytelling and mobilizing the people, resources, and networks to solve them.

Nichole Wilson, co-founder of Whole & Free Foods, LLC - Every Body Eat®, is a savvy entrepreneur, business founder, innovator, and changemaker in America.

Jemia Cunningham-Elder '09, founder of Designs by Jemia, is the newest member of the ENTP team, and founder of Designs by Jemia.

Chamilla Banks, owner of Fit Your Life Into Your Life a business, is an integrated marketing professional, entrepreneur, business founder, innovator, and changemaker in America.

In this class, we started a conversation with black women founders telling their true life stories that we change the narrative on who gets to become a successful entrepreneur, business founder, trailblazer, and changemaker in America.

We are very grateful to our guest speakers, Nichole Wilson, Karen Jones, Jemia Cunningham-Elder '09, and Chamilla Banks, for their bravery in sharing their stories.

Karen Jones, CEO and Executive Director of the Chocolate Chips Foundation, is a mother, former educator, business owner, executive coach, and social justice entrepreneur. She is an expert at creating social change through storytelling and mobilizing the people, resources, and networks to solve them.

Nichole Wilson, co-founder of Whole & Free Foods, LLC - Every Body Eat®, is a savvy entrepreneur, business founder, innovator, and changemaker in America.

Jemia Cunningham-Elder '09, founder of Designs by Jemia, is the newest member of the ENTP team, and founder of Designs by Jemia.

Chamilla Banks, owner of Fit Your Life Into Your Life a business, is an integrated marketing professional, entrepreneur, business founder, innovator, and changemaker in America.

In this class, we started a conversation with black women founders telling their true life stories that we change the narrative on who gets to become a successful entrepreneur, business founder, trailblazer, and changemake...