Concur Known Issues – Print/Email Feature and Concur Generated Emails

Two known issues may be affecting some end users. While Concur is investigating, here are some tips:

1. The Print/Email feature within an expense report may at times be unavailable. Should this happen, we recommend the below options.

- Click out of the expense report and then click back into it, to see if the Print/Email button reappears.
- Refresh your browser, log back into Concur, and click into the expense report.
- Log out of Concur and log back in.

If those workarounds do not work for you, please submit a Services & Support case.

2. Concur email security settings were recently updated, resulting in some campus users no longer receiving notifications.

- If you have been impacted by this issue, please submit a Services & Support case so that we can alert Concur.

Updates will be posted in upcoming Weekly Digest articles when these issues have been fully resolved.

Have you used your Travel & Entertainment (T&E) Card?

Benefits of using the T&E Card are that one can avoid paying out of pocket for university business expenses and not having to worry about late fees and finance charges.

It is the cardholder's responsibility to reconcile all outstanding card transactions in Concur in a timely manner.

- All card transactions appear under Available Expenses in Concur. With the exception of Pending Card Transactions, card charges that appear under Available Expenses are considered unreconciled and will need to be added to an Expense Report and submitted in a timely manner.

If you want more visibility into your department's unreconciled card charges, you can run the Outstanding Card Charges Report in the Business Analytics Hub. In the Search box, type in Concur and you will be able to locate the report more easily.

As a reminder, card transactions should be reconciled in a timely manner:

- All Travel and Entertainment Card Product transactions (including T&E Card, CTS Air, CTS Hotel, and T&E - Temporary Virtual Card), are required to be reconciled within 45 days from the trip or event end date.
- Procurement Card charges need to be reconciled in the month the charge to the card was made (i.e. the same month the transaction becomes an Available Expense in Concur)

For more information on the Outstanding Card Charges report, check out the Blink page for an overview and resources on the process.

Cash Operations & Merchant Services

Reminders from CashOps and Merchant services teams:

- The PCI DSS training and Cyber Security training certifications are valid for one year from its certification date.

- Merchants need to ensure that these certifications are kept in active status. Kindly review these certification dates and take the training available in UC learning, in case the certification has expired or nearing its expiration date.
- Department should periodically review their banking activity and prepare their bank-ledger reconciliations on a monthly-basis.
- Also, please submit the completed bank reconciliations to CashOps teams via S&S ticket.

Multi-Investigator Extramural Funds Award Management Best Practice

We want to share a best practice when managing extramural awards with multiple investigators that span across different departments and/or vice chancellor areas. In instances where there is a discernible budget for each investigator for a particular award, it is our recommendation that separate project(s) be assigned in each investigator's award managing unit be created.

For example, a NIH award is awarded with investigators in the Department of Medicine and the Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry. Project numbers would be created in both respective financial units that are managing the award for their respective investigators.

Frequently Asked Questions:

1) What happens if the award only has salary and no other budget (e.g. technical staff, equipment, consumables, travel, etc.) for an investigator or senior key personnel from another unit?

- In these circumstances, we do not recommend setting up a separate project in the other financial unit.

2) What if the other unit does not perform any of the fund management or research administration duties for their investigator?

- The project creation should, in general, follow the award management. If the lead department is performing all of the research administration for the investigators then a separate project under the other investigator's unit should not be created.

3) When is this effective? Is it for new awards only?

- When possible, new project(s) should be created for existing awards as well as new awards.

4) Who will be responsible for setting up or requesting the chartstring(s) in the other department(s)?

- The lead unit or awarding award unit will need to coordinate with Sponsored Projects Finance (SPF) to request the additional project(s) via PADUA be set up in the other financial unit with the appropriate budget information.

5) Is there sample language of what to include in the Project or Multi-PI Leadership Plans?

- Example language of what to be included will be posted on Blink.

6) What is the reason for this best practice?

- This will ensure the flow of the indirect cost recovery dollars will be distributed to the respective vice chancellor and departments to help cover the administrative expenses related to fund management, human resources, academic personnel, information technology, etc.

Questions regarding this best practice can be sent to rafs@ucsd.edu.
