Message from the Dean

Dear Mason Community,

April is Earth Month at Mason, and we are highlighting the stories of graduate students at Mason who are advancing the field of sustainability and addressing pressing environmental issues. Mason Science graduate students

ZOOM. If you are interested in joining the Alumni Chapter and getting involved, please contact us.

On April 22nd at 7:30pm we will be hosting our COS Alumni Chapter Meeting over Zoom. For more information about our speakers, and to register to attend, please visit our website.

Mason students accepted into the Emerging Contaminants in the Environment 2021 conference will be highlighting the stories of graduate students at Mason who are advancing the field of sustainability and addressing pressing environmental issues.

In this issue:

- Message from the Dean
- Events and Announcements
- Mason Science in the News
- Mason Science Research Spotlight
- Future Topics

To stay up-to-date on our events, you can follow our social media.

If you have a question you'd like us to answer in a future newsletter, please write to us!

Make Your Gift Early: Your gift is tax deductible to the full extent allowed by the law.

Your gift will help Mason Science students pursue their goals and contribute to the global community.

Visit our website to learn more.

Fernando Miralles-Wilhelm, Dean, George Mason University | College of Science

Subscribe to our newsletter to stay informed on the latest news and events at Mason Science.