Dear Members of the UO Research Community,

Parting Shot

The eighth annual Undergraduate Research Symposium Bigger Than Ever Operandi UROP has recently interviewed two undergraduate researchers as part of their regular series February 2018. She will be overseeing all post-awards functions and will serve as the lead on audits and staffing updates.

 Operandi UROP received the 2018 Undergraduate Research Symposium Oregon State of the Province Award. The symposium is an annual event where undergraduate students present their research projects to an audience of faculty, staff, and students. The symposium is one of the largest undergraduate research events in the state and provides a platform for students to showcase their work and engage with the larger research community.

The symposium was held in the UO Student Union Ballroom on February 20th, 2018. The event featured presentations from undergraduate students across the university, as well as keynote speeches from prominent figures in the research community. The symposium is a testament to the University of Oregon's commitment to undergraduate research and innovation.
