The University of Oregon celebrated the launch of the first Oregon National Academy of Inventors (NAI) Chapter. The Academy promotes excellence in research and innovators, both past and present, for their groundbreaking work in research, the patents our inventors have received, and the positive impact their contributions make worldwide,” said Chuck Williams, associate vice president for innovation.

“We're proud to be a part of this organization, which will allow us to recognize and encourage the many UO inventors, both past and present, for their groundbreaking work in research, the patents our inventors have received, and the positive impact their contributions make worldwide,” said Chuck Williams, associate vice president for innovation.

The University of Oregon is the only Oregon Association of American Universities member. Research, innovation, and entrepreneurship are central to Oregon’s identity, and the Oregon National Academy of Inventors will help underscore that commitment.

The Oregon National Academy of Inventors (NAI) Chapter is one of 20 that received funding from the National Academy of Inventors. The UO chapter was created to help the university’s researchers, inventors, and entrepreneurs to engage in the global community of inventors and to advance the mission of the National Academy of Inventors.

The NAI was founded in 2010 to recognize and encourage inventors with patents issued from the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.
