We try to convey just a snapshot of the department’s recent accomplishments.

With the Fall 2020 semester in the rearview mirror, we are anticipating a restful holiday season before classes resume in the new year. It seems like lately there is never a dull moment, so with this newsletter we try to do our best to keep you informed of what we do and the things that make us proud. None of this would be possible without the support and hard work of our students, alumni, faculty and staff. We are incredibly grateful for your generous support.

A monthly gift to the Department of Communication Excellence Fund is an ongoing investment in the future of Clemson’s communication students.

Your gift will help direct the experience of generations of students to come. With your support students can:

- Access courses that examine the latest trends and concerns in the field
- Attend conferences and workshops
- Join professional organizations
- Access online resources

Gifts to the Department of Communication Excellence Fund are tax-deductible and support the mission of the Department.

We also encourage you to remain engaged with the Department of Communication by following us on Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn and Instagram. We are doing and even more excited about our future. Please don’t hesitate to contact me. We are thrilled about what we are doing and even more excited about our future.

I encourage you to continue to engage with the Department of Communication by following us on Facebook (https://www.facebook.com/ClemsonDepartmentofCommunication/), Twitter (https://twitter.com/CommDeptClemson), LinkedIn (https://www.linkedin.com/company/clemson-university-communication-department/) and Instagram (https://www.instagram.com/clemsoncommunication/).

Have a happy holiday season, a healthy and prosperous new year and…Go Tigers!

Department Chair Joe Mazer

Three Experiments,” was recently published in the Journal of Computer-Mediated Communication, one of the top journals in the discipline. Skye received the 2020 Distinguished Article Award from the International Communicative Behavior Research Society. His book, “Athletic Coaching: A Communication Research Perspective,” was recently published by Peter Lang.

Visit the Department of Communication at the College of Behavioral, Social and Political Science to learn more about our faculty, staff and students written updates about our faculty, staff and students. Check out our Department blog space for regular updates about our faculty, staff and students. We are excited to have Jordan on board. She is already making a difference in the best part of what we do in higher education. This is not how any of us expected the academic careers of our newest graduates would conclude. They completed their Clemson journeys in the face of challenges none of us have seen before. I am incredibly proud of their hard work and accomplishments.

Three Experiments,” was recently published in the Journal of Computer-Mediated Communication, one of the top journals in the discipline. Skye received the 2020 Distinguished Article Award from the International Communicative Behavior Research Society. His book, “Athletic Coaching: A Communication Research Perspective,” was recently published by Peter Lang.

Visit the Department of Communication at the College of Behavioral, Social and Political Science to learn more about our faculty, staff and students written updates about our faculty, staff and students. Check out our Department blog space for regular updates about our faculty, staff and students. We are excited to have Jordan on board. She is already making a difference in the best part of what we do in higher education. This is not how any of us expected the academic careers of our newest graduates would conclude. They completed their Clemson journeys in the face of challenges none of us have seen before. I am incredibly proud of their hard work and accomplishments.

Three Experiments,” was recently published in the Journal of Computer-Mediated Communication, one of the top journals in the discipline. Skye received the 2020 Distinguished Article Award from the International Communicative Behavior Research Society. His book, “Athletic Coaching: A Communication Research Perspective,” was recently published by Peter Lang.

Visit the Department of Communication at the College of Behavioral, Social and Political Science to learn more about our faculty, staff and students written updates about our faculty, staff and students. Check out our Department blog space for regular updates about our faculty, staff and students. We are excited to have Jordan on board. She is already making a difference in the best part of what we do in higher education. This is not how any of us expected the academic careers of our newest graduates would conclude. They completed their Clemson journeys in the face of challenges none of us have seen before. I am incredibly proud of their hard work and accomplishments.

Three Experiments,” was recently published in the Journal of Computer-Mediated Communication, one of the top journals in the discipline. Skye received the 2020 Distinguished Article Award from the International Communicative Behavior Research Society. His book, “Athletic Coaching: A Communication Research Perspective,” was recently published by Peter Lang.