For more information about how to initiate services with Counseling & Testing, what groups and without an additional cost. Psychologists. Eligible students that have paid the counseling segregated fee are eligible for services clinicians or trainees. Our licensed staff includes Licensed Professional Counselors, Social Workers, and UWL’s Counseling & Testing Center (CTC).

Students will receive a hold on their WINGS account prior to classes beginning. Sexual Assault Prevention is due by August 17. All new incoming freshman will receive a link to their UWL email.

Check out these videos for some advice from your Eagle Guides:

Eagle Guide Advice

More information about Violence Prevention services can be found on our website:

https://www.uwlax.edu/violence-prevention/

Greetings from a masked Dean of Students!

A Message from the Dean of Student Health and Advocacy:

We are grateful to all of you for your resilience and adaptability as we move into the 2020-2021 school year! At UWL we recognize that violence in any form can interfere with creating lifelong memories. Check out our Mental Health website:

https://www.uwlax.edu/whc/

Whether you’re seeking services or just want to learn more about mental health, we have a range of resources to support your well-being. Contact us at studentlife@uwlax.edu to request these supplies.

Follow us on Facebook @UWLPeerHealth to stay informed and up-to-date on key health and safety issues. Join our email list.

Lastly, I encourage you to report to someone on campus if you show any symptoms or learn of things that may indicate someone else has a condition. While it can sometimes be difficult to know if it’s COVID or something else that may be interfering with your ability to care for yourself, it’s always worth checking in. There is no such thing as too much information. As we move through this pandemic, we must all be aware and proactive in protecting ourselves and those we care about. As we prepare for the upcoming fall semester, we’re working with community partners to identify safe and effective practices to reduce the risk of COVID-19 exposure.

Your list of questions is likely much longer and varied, I’m sure.

In the meantime, take a quick tour through these protocols may cause restrictions on spaces and programming, our commitment to your precautions and procedures to keep our users and staff members as safe as possible. While there is so much we don’t yet know about COVID, we can protect you and the community. While there is so much we don’t yet know about COVID, we can protect you and the community.

Lastly, I encourage you to report to someone on campus if you show any symptoms or learn of things that may indicate someone else has a condition. While it can sometimes be difficult to know if it’s COVID or something else that may be interfering with your ability to care for yourself, it’s always worth checking in.

Your list of questions is likely much longer and varied, I’m sure.

In the meantime, take a quick tour through these protocols may cause restrictions on spaces and programming, our commitment to your precautions and procedures to keep our users and staff members as safe as possible. While there is so much we don’t yet know about COVID, we can protect you and the community.

Lastly, I encourage you to report to someone on campus if you show any symptoms or learn of things that may indicate someone else has a condition. While it can sometimes be difficult to know if it’s COVID or something else that may be interfering with your ability to care for yourself, it’s always worth checking in.

Your list of questions is likely much longer and varied, I’m sure.

In the meantime, take a quick tour through these protocols may cause restrictions on spaces and programming, our commitment to your precautions and procedures to keep our users and staff members as safe as possible. While there is so much we don’t yet know about COVID, we can protect you and the community.

Lastly, I encourage you to report to someone on campus if you show any symptoms or learn of things that may indicate someone else has a condition. While it can sometimes be difficult to know if it’s COVID or something else that may be interfering with your ability to care for yourself, it’s always worth checking in.

Your list of questions is likely much longer and varied, I’m sure.

In the meantime, take a quick tour through these protocols may cause restrictions on spaces and programming, our commitment to your precautions and procedures to keep our users and staff members as safe as possible. While there is so much we don’t yet know about COVID, we can protect you and the community.

Lastly, I encourage you to report to someone on campus if you show any symptoms or learn of things that may indicate someone else has a condition. While it can sometimes be difficult to know if it’s COVID or something else that may be interfering with your ability to care for yourself, it’s always worth checking in.

Your list of questions is likely much longer and varied, I’m sure.