CARLETON

Dear Classmates:

There are so many stories to hear.

We're planning a variety of things for our 35th reunion next summer, but they are all pretty much just chances to be together, engage in conversation, and share our stories. Throughout the weekend, there will be some planned presentations, light games and activities, happy hours, Cave time, and (obvi) some dancing. But mostly there will be lots of space for that magical Carleton reunion experience where, as one of our classmates put it, "You connect with somebody that you either knew well or didn't know well, and you start a conversation, and three hours go by."

We're starting the conversation early with a series of podcasts called "Humans of

'88," where our classmates (three so far, with more in the pipeline) reflect on things many of us will relate to: the approaching end of work life and what comes next, relationships with parents and children, and how Carleton shaped us and equipped us for the paths ahead. We invite you to listen to Bob Crawford, Fiona Grant Pradhan, and Kristin Devine, and then consider volunteering yourself or nominating a classmate to be the subject of an upcoming episode (email Dick Trent at dtrent31@gmail.com).

Mostly, we strongly encourage you to join us at Carleton next summer, June 16-18, 2023, and share your story. Without you, someone's missing.

Sincerely,

Your Class of 1988 Reunion Committee
