Dear Colleague,

Last night I was reading a magazine and found Lady Bird Johnson's quote about "...where flowers bloom, so does hope...". It really hit home, and I think that's the best way to describe what's going on here in South America, where spring (and its marvelous wildflowers) is drawing near.

Cruce Andino in Patagonia (Argentina & Chile) has received a "Safe Travels" stamp of approval from the WTTC, which means they meet the latest global protocols for health and safety. The Grand Hotel Punta del Este (Uruguay) reopened its doors at the start of September and Terranova Costa Rica has received many enquiries from potential visitors since the government announced that U.S. tourists from up to 19 states can now visit the Central American nation.

That's just some of the good news that we are finally starting to hear from clients in the Emerging Destinations portfolio.

As mentioned in previous editions of our newsletter, our Virtual Trade Show, along with our sister company Re•think Travel Marketing, is ready to launch soon. We'll be sending you a formal invite to participate in the event. Don't miss this great opportunity to meet travel colleagues from around the world, learn about the latest news and promotions from your preferred suppliers, and hear from keynote speakers in the industry. Please save these dates: Monday, November 9th to Thursday, November 12th.

Last, but not least, we invite you to check out our YouTube channel and listen to some of our past webinars.

Stay safe and keep dreaming!

Freshwater Fishing in Guyana

With such a robust landscape of rivers and forests, it's not surprising that Guyana is one of the globe's best places for freshwater fishing. The South American country is especially known for the Arapaima — the world's largest freshwater fish. But overall, there are close to 500 species of fish, many of them on the list of the bucket list of avid anglers.

Protecting the Patagonian Wilderness

Through its AMA nonprofit, Hotel Las Torres has launched a number of environmental initiatives in Torres del Paine National Park including the creation of an interpretive trail, education camps, reforestation projects, and programs to aid indigenous bumble bees and the huemul deer.

A Day at the Beach — Andes Style

Before or after your passage through the Andes with Cruce Andino, spend a day (or two or three) taking in the sun, sand and (inland) sea of gorgeous Lake Nahuel Huapi in Argentina. Bariloche Tourism offers the lowdown on six awesome playas: Del Centenario, Del Centro, Melipal, Bonita, Serena and Villa Tacul.

Iguazú Falls — 5 Reasons Why These Falls are Epic

Voted one of the Seven Natural Wonders of South America, Iguazú Falls is one the bucket list of nearly every avid globetrotter.

Poised along the Iguazú River on the border between Argentina and Brazil, the incredible cascades are the focus of two Grand Hotels Lux — the Iguazú Grand and Panoramic Grand — which offer unsurpassed luxury in the wilderness within easy reach of the falls. What makes Iguazú Falls so epic? Check out these five facts...
