A Message from the Department Chair, Professor Suzanne Boyd

Welcome back to the Fall 2021 Department Newsletter! We hope you had a fun and relaxing summer and are excited to start the new semester with us. On behalf of the Social Professors of the Mathematical Sciences Department, we wish you all the best during this new academic year.

Please see the attached list of important dates, including the FIRST DAY OF CLASSES (August 23). In the meantime, please enjoy the following highlights from our department:

Reminders for instructors

- Remove paper forms from your office and make sure to always keep electronic copies.
- Use Glacier to keep track of your student awards.
- Make sure to teach your classes on time.
- If you are unable to teach a class session during the semester, you must inform Classroom Services.

Important policy/training reminders and links - see below!

- Read the newsletter carefully - it contains some important dates.
- Visit the website regarding COVID-19 procedures.

COVID-19

We understand that this pandemic continues to create challenges and we support your efforts in teaching your classes.

For those who are not yet vaccinated, please consider making an appointment for a COVID-19 vaccine.

In particular, we ask every employee to urge and, if needed, to help those not yet vaccinated get vaccinated.

The University requests the safe side and ask for clarification in this evolving environment.

Thanks to all our students, faculty, and staff for your cooperation!

Suzanne Boyd
