COVID-19

Our campus is currently at a high level of public health risk. We intend to remain open for the Fall 2021 semester. All students and employees are expected to follow the guidance of the UW System and the Federal CDC.

Please ensure that you follow the guidelines below.

- Wear a mask in all indoor spaces except your private residence.
- Continue to practice social distancing (6 feet).
- Avoid indoor gatherings.
- Avoid travel (travel risk is high).

Please refer to the UW System covid-19 website for more details.

Reminders for Instructors

- Use the Canvas platform to communicate with students in your instruction.
- If you are teaching in person, please limit each in-person class to 25 students and maintain appropriate social distancing.
- Do your best to make instruction available online.
- Familiarize yourself with the “online teaching guide” available online.
- If you are teaching online, please ensure that your course is accessible to all students, including those with disabilities.

Please contact Suzanne Boyd if you have any questions.

Fall 2021 Department Newsletter

A Message from the Department Chair: Professor Suzanne Boyd

The Department of Mathematical Sciences has created and posted a handbook that will be posted soon. The handbook will contain clear guidance on how to navigate the upcoming academic year.

The Department has updated its travel reimbursement policy. If you have any travel related questions, including reimbursement, please contact Katie, who sent the updated travel information email.

For any requests involving travel, be sure to use the Information Request Form. Please contact Katie if you require special use of a Departmental or campus owned vehicle.

The Department has added new features to our Zoom meetings. A Teams meeting can be set up for Department events and informal gatherings.

We will again be doing the Fall Colloquium this fall on several Fridays. Please join us for the Fall Gathering this year.
