Join the University Chaplaincy for a summer reading group of See No Stranger: A Memoir and Manifesto of Love and Solidarity by Valarie Kaur. This book explores the intersection of love, justice, and healing through the author’s own personal stories of activism, reckoning, and growth. We welcome you to join us if you are seeking to engage in deeper ways of engaging social transformation through loving self, loving opponents, and loving others, and is woven throughout with the author’s own personal stories of activism, reckoning, and growth. The group will meet every other Wednesday from 12:00 p.m. to 1:00 p.m. ET on Zoom from June 16 – July 14 for discussion and reflection on the major themes of the text.

In the United States, this means confronting the reality of white supremacy. "Solidarity is only possible if we are brave enough to reckon with the past and how the past shapes the present. In the interceding traditions; and to deepen their understandings of civic engagement, justice, and peace in a pluralistic world. We encourage all Tufts undergraduates to apply. Please email University Chaplain to sign up by May 26 to receive a copy of the book. Apply to be an Interfaith Ambassador with the University Chaplaincy. Apply by May 15.

Apply to be an Interfaith Ambassador with the University Chaplaincy

We are recruiting a team of Interfaith Ambassadors, drawn from Tufts’ diverse religious, spiritual, and philosophical traditions. These students will be trained as leaders to support and foster interfaith relationships among religious and non-religious communities and individuals working together for the common good. Ambassadors will have the opportunity to host a range of events in their community in civil society. What is the place of faith in public deliberation and work for social justice? How do religious and non-religious communities and individuals work together for the common good? Ambassadors will have the opportunity to host a range of events in their community.
