It's a great time to be in SCIENCE!

THE FACE OF SCIENCE: Tarah O'Sullivan

Tarah O'Sullivan, mother of two children with rare genetic diseases, has returned to Clemson as a student in the Department of Developmental Disabilities. She met with Clemson president James P. Clements.

Alumni Spotlight: Matthew Troutman
Matthew Troutman is a former student at Clemson, and now a faculty member and director of teaching and learning at the University of Arizona. He has conducted research in astrophysics and pre-college education.

MLK Award for Excellence in Service: Kinsey Meggett
Kinsey Meggett is a senior studying biochemistry at Clemson, and is the 2019 recipient of the MLK Award for Excellence in Service. She is the first student to receive this award.

Student Engagement: Tigers on Call 2019
This year's networking event attracted more than 50 Clemson alumni and friends who work in health-care fields together with pre-health majors.

Renowned scientist is coming to campus
Kinsey Meggett, a senior studying biochemistry at Clemson, has been chosen as the first student recipient of the MLK Award for Excellence in Service.

COLLEGE NEWS
News and updates from the College of Science.

CALENDAR
Upcoming events and activities.

THE EVENT OF THE SEMESTER: MARCH 2019

Wheeler Wonders: "How to Build a Dog in 2,392,715,236 Simple Steps" in Freeman Hall

Student: "Forget Your Fears: Individual Differences in Fear" in the Michelin Career Center

Colleagues: "Darwin and the Origins of Holistic Science" with Elaine Ostrander in the Michelin Career Center

Academics: "The Core of Science" with Professor William Kimler in Freeman Hall

Science on Tap: "Students Change the World and Themselves" with Viva Wine Bar

More College of Science Events
Read more...