U.S. PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION SERIES
★★★★★★

The 2024 presidential election promises to be a consequential one, as Kamala Harris and Donald Trump have offered very different visions for America's future.

This webinar will explore what political scientists know about how voters process the political information they encounter and how the decisions they make at the ballot box are likely to affect policymaking in Washington D.C.

Professors Molly Offer-Westort and Ruth Bloch Rubin will share their research and reflect on what we are still learning about American democracy October 17, 8:30pm.

Taylor Swift, one of the biggest names in showbiz today, has become a cultural whirlwind, spinning catchy anthems that resonate globally. From empowering lyrics to surprise album drops, Swift has turned fans into a fierce community.

Swift's influence is not confined to music and economies but spans culture, gender, race, and politics. Her willingness to address societal issues like racial equality, LGBTQ+ rights, and her own political stance make her a powerful voice for change.

Swiftie or not, join us on Wednesday, October 30, at 8:00 pm HKT, where our Taylor Swift scholar, Professor Paula Harper from the Music Department at the University of Chicago, will discuss Swift's impact on music, fandom, culture, economies, politics, and more.
