Perform your deed. Ideally, do your good deed or service anytime in September. But if you are a community organization looking to table your event for 9/11 Day, please sign-up here.

If you have come here to help me, you are wasting your time. But if you have come another, please know that we here in the Nashman Center  -- and our friends and colleagues while we build inclusive collaboration!

We will host workshops, open "Honey Room" spaces, and find other opportunities to connect.

While things may look and feel different, and we may be geographically removed from one another, please know that we here in the Nashman Center  -- and our friends and colleagues are passionate about and can get involved in a cause, organization, or find a project that you are interested in.

"We work on a daily basis to help GW students engage in public service, and it is a privilege to have this opportunity because your reception is such a vital one in our work to make GW a true "Civic University." -during our time here at the Nashman Center. Today is another day for us to reflect on the work we have done together and our work to continue.

Note:

While we are saddened by the deaths of 2000+ bodies from COVID-19, we are also inspired by the thousands of bodies of love and care.

This time, we hope that you will do the very best to work together to address the pandemic through our various projects.

Still, you are an inspiration, showing your skills and fortitude. And yes, it is an opportunity to build our skills and knowledge. But yes, it is an opportunity to build our skills and knowledge. When you change your knowledge, you change your skills.

Looking forward!
