The class will be held Tuesdays 4:10pm -6:00pm Students will work in teams to identify an area of focus and conduct evidence-based research to understand how environmental justice intersects with social issues. This course will allow students to identify an area of focus, conduct evidence-based research and in partnership with a community partner, identify and implement solutions. Students will have the opportunity to work alongside community partners to service the community needs in Washington D.C. This course will be open to all GW students. This course is open to all GW students. This course will be open to all GW students.

Perform your deed. Ideally, do your good deed or service happening for 9/11 Day. So please post a message about it yourself, but you can do it anytime in September (preferably). We're tracking good deeds based on what you care about. Here is a list of over 50 “good deeds” you can do for 9/11 Day. These are intended to be good deeds for people who are not able to leave the house, to people who are not normally comfortable volunteering, and to people who can’t afford to give. Participate in variety of ways to make sure there is something for everyone. So, you can still volunteer, including virtual volunteer opportunities, but we are all encouraged to think about how we can help the most vulnerable and those who are not typically able to serve in this way.
