Last year, the theme was textile waste, and winning ideas included a weighted blanket made from recycled materials. This year, we are challenging innovators to develop a solution to a local climate-related problem. The 2020 DC Climathon will take place on November 11th - November 13th. Applications are due by October 30th at 11:59pm PT.

The Honey W. Nashman Center, in partnership with the GW Sociology Department, has launched a new initiative called Diversion Instagram Launch. This project aims to reduce the number of people entering the criminal justice system by providing alternative pathways and support services. The initiative is designed to meet the current moment and needs of the GW community in a virtual setting.

The Office for Diversity, Equity and Community Engagement has reimagined and envisioned the 2020 Diversity Summit to meet the current moment and needs of the GW community in a virtual setting. The summit will take place from November 11th to November 13th. The theme of the summit is "Past. Present. Future." The summit will focus on Systemic Racism, Indigenous Rights and Education, and Sustainability, Community Empowerment and Civic Engagement.

GW Votes is hosting a series of events throughout the academic year to encourage student voter turnout. Chair of the GW Votes Taskforce Amy Cohen and Dr. Adam Gismondi, Director of Impact at the Honey W. Nashman Center, will be discussing the results of the Hatchet's 2020 Election Poll. The poll surveyed students' 2020 election preferences. The results will be included in the Hatchet's 2020 Election Poll. The poll is currently being conducted.

The GW Votes Taskforce has partnered with the Up to Us alumni network to launch a new initiative called "Up to Us Campus Competition." This initiative provides financial support to GW students to deliver solutions through alternative breaks, service learning, and social entrepreneurship. There is still time to apply to one of the four completely virtual, free service experiences for this academic year. Application deadlines vary, so be sure to check the Up to Us website for more information.

In addition to the Up to Us Campus Competition, the GW Votes Taskforce is also hosting a virtual, free service experience for this academic year. The service experience will focus on disaster relief. There is still time to apply to one of the four completely virtual, free service experiences for this academic year. Application deadlines vary, so be sure to check the Up to Us website for more information.

The Up to Us alumni network is partnering with the Honey W. Nashman Center to offer a leadership development program. The program will provide financial support to GW students to deliver solutions through alternative breaks, service learning, and social entrepreneurship. There is still time to apply to one of the four completely virtual, free service experiences for this academic year. Application deadlines vary, so be sure to check the Up to Us website for more information.

GW Votes is also hosting a series of events throughout the academic year to encourage student voter turnout. Chair of the GW Votes Taskforce Amy Cohen and Dr. Adam Gismondi, Director of Impact at the Honey W. Nashman Center, will be discussing the results of the Hatchet's 2020 Election Poll. The poll surveyed students' 2020 election preferences. The results will be included in the Hatchet's 2020 Election Poll. The poll is currently being conducted.

The GW Votes Taskforce has partnered with the Up to Us alumni network to launch a new initiative called "Up to Us Campus Competition." This initiative provides financial support to GW students to deliver solutions through alternative breaks, service learning, and social entrepreneurship. There is still time to apply to one of the four completely virtual, free service experiences for this academic year. Application deadlines vary, so be sure to check the Up to Us website for more information.

In addition to the Up to Us Campus Competition, the GW Votes Taskforce is also hosting a virtual, free service experience for this academic year. The service experience will focus on disaster relief. There is still time to apply to one of the four completely virtual, free service experiences for this academic year. Application deadlines vary, so be sure to check the Up to Us website for more information.

The Up to Us alumni network is partnering with the Honey W. Nashman Center to offer a leadership development program. The program will provide financial support to GW students to deliver solutions through alternative breaks, service learning, and social entrepreneurship. There is still time to apply to one of the four completely virtual, free service experiences for this academic year. Application deadlines vary, so be sure to check the Up to Us website for more information.

GW Votes is also hosting a series of events throughout the academic year to encourage student voter turnout. Chair of the GW Votes Taskforce Amy Cohen and Dr. Adam Gismondi, Director of Impact at the Honey W. Nashman Center, will be discussing the results of the Hatchet's 2020 Election Poll. The poll surveyed students' 2020 election preferences. The results will be included in the Hatchet's 2020 Election Poll. The poll is currently being conducted.

The GW Votes Taskforce has partnered with the Up to Us alumni network to launch a new initiative called "Up to Us Campus Competition." This initiative provides financial support to GW students to deliver solutions through alternative breaks, service learning, and social entrepreneurship. There is still time to apply to one of the four completely virtual, free service experiences for this academic year. Application deadlines vary, so be sure to check the Up to Us website for more information.

In addition to the Up to Us Campus Competition, the GW Votes Taskforce is also hosting a virtual, free service experience for this academic year. The service experience will focus on disaster relief. There is still time to apply to one of the four completely virtual, free service experiences for this academic year. Application deadlines vary, so be sure to check the Up to Us website for more information.

The Up to Us alumni network is partnering with the Honey W. Nashman Center to offer a leadership development program. The program will provide financial support to GW students to deliver solutions through alternative breaks, service learning, and social entrepreneurship. There is still time to apply to one of the four completely virtual, free service experiences for this academic year. Application deadlines vary, so be sure to check the Up to Us website for more information.

GW Votes is also hosting a series of events throughout the academic year to encourage student voter turnout. Chair of the GW Votes Taskforce Amy Cohen and Dr. Adam Gismondi, Director of Impact at the Honey W. Nashman Center, will be discussing the results of the Hatchet's 2020 Election Poll. The poll surveyed students' 2020 election preferences. The results will be included in the Hatchet's 2020 Election Poll. The poll is currently being conducted.

The GW Votes Taskforce has partnered with the Up to Us alumni network to launch a new initiative called "Up to Us Campus Competition." This initiative provides financial support to GW students to deliver solutions through alternative breaks, service learning, and social entrepreneurship. There is still time to apply to one of the four completely virtual, free service experiences for this academic year. Application deadlines vary, so be sure to check the Up to Us website for more information.

In addition to the Up to Us Campus Competition, the GW Votes Taskforce is also hosting a virtual, free service experience for this academic year. The service experience will focus on disaster relief. There is still time to apply to one of the four completely virtual, free service experiences for this academic year. Application deadlines vary, so be sure to check the Up to Us website for more information.

The Up to Us alumni network is partnering with the Honey W. Nashman Center to offer a leadership development program. The program will provide financial support to GW students to deliver solutions through alternative breaks, service learning, and social entrepreneurship. There is still time to apply to one of the four completely virtual, free service experiences for this academic year. Application deadlines vary, so be sure to check the Up to Us website for more information.

GW Votes is also hosting a series of events throughout the academic year to encourage student voter turnout. Chair of the GW Votes Taskforce Amy Cohen and Dr. Adam Gismondi, Director of Impact at the Honey W. Nashman Center, will be discussing the results of the Hatchet's 2020 Election Poll. The poll surveyed students' 2020 election preferences. The results will be included in the Hatchet's 2020 Election Poll. The poll is currently being conducted.