NATIONAL SEMINAR ON HUMAN RIGHTS

February 9, 2021 marks the 200th anniversary of the American Emancipation Proclamation. Check out DC’s guide of Juneteenth commemorative events. June 19 marks the day, on June 19, 1865, that Union Gen. Gordon Granger arrived in Galveston, Texas, to announce that enslaved Black people were free, after the Civil War ended and more than two years after the Emancipation Proclamation. Juneteenth celebrates the end of slavery.
