Dear incoming student,

As the Vice Provost/Vice President for Campus Life, I am delighted to welcome you to the Duke community as you begin your graduate studies. My colleagues in the Division of Student Affairs are eager to support your experience on campus in many ways, and we look forward to meeting you and helping you thrive during your time at Duke.

I write today to inform you of Duke’s policies around sexual misconduct and harassment, and to remind you of the mandatory requirement that all incoming graduate and professional students complete a two-part online course around sexual misconduct prevention, policies and resources. Duke’s Student Sexual Misconduct Policy prohibits sexual misconduct, including sexual harassment, sexual violence, relationship violence and stalking committed by students. Duke’s Harassment Policy and Procedures prohibit sexual misconduct by faculty, staff and third parties. Please take time to review these policies carefully. As mentioned above, the University also requires all new graduate and professional students to complete Sexual Assault Prevention for Graduate Students, an online course used on over 500 campuses nationwide. The course provides further information about sexual misconduct, the importance of consent and prevention and support resources available to you throughout your time on campus.

Graduate and professional students must complete the majority of the course online before arriving on campus. Approximately 45 days after passing Part One of the course exam, students are required to complete the final part (Chapter 4 and a follow-up survey). PLEASE NOTE: ALL SURVEY RESPONSES ARE STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL. The University will only receive aggregate information about the student body as a whole and will never see individual information in any way.

If you would like further information around sexual misconduct prevention and support resources at Duke, or if you have any concerns about this requirement, please contact the Women’s Center at SAPGrad@duke.edu and support resources at Duke, or if you have any concerns about this requirement, please contact the Women’s Center at SAPGrad@duke.edu.

Thank you for your attention to this important topic. We are committed to providing a safe and healthy living and learning environment here at Duke and we look forward to welcoming you to campus soon.

Sincerely yours,

Mary Pat McMahon
Vice Provost/Vice President of Campus Life
