TOWN GUIDES

Thanks to the hundreds of lovely ladies who turned out last week for Chester's Sip & Shop. The rain held off and the town was hopping! I've always been on the other side of these events (organizing and nail-biting), so it was a thrill to be on the retail end and see the outpouring of local love. Thanks for supporting this wonderful group of specialty shops, galleries and restaurants and I'm so glad to be a part of it.

Speaking of local love, it's time for our annual Best of The Shoreline Readers' Poll! We've been at it 10 years (crazy, I know!), and we love to see what your favorites are. Fill in as much or as little as you'd like and give your favorite businesses a boost. Just for taking the time, we'll enter you in a drawing to win a $100 Gift Certificate to River Tavern.

p.s. this list features some of our favorite summer articles from The E List archives.

Tourist in My Own Town: Dinner Train!

The last time I took the Essex Steam Train, my daughter was five years old, and I was caught in an elaborate lie about why Cinderella no longer lived in Gillette Castle. Regardless, it was a fun and memorable excursion. The Dinner Train has been on my summer bucket list forever, and I finally made it...

Foot Facial at Blissful Beauty, Deep River

We've all heard the horror stories of traditional pedicures gone bad but who doesn't like spiffy, pretty toes and soft feet? I've spent so much time overthinking the bacteria that collects in the jets and the chemicals in the products used that I have just simply taken my feet into my own hands. Until I discovered Blissful Beauty...

Introducing Lacausa!

Introducing Lacausa! This California collection has that LA ease: simple silhouettes in interesting and natural fabrics, cut with an eye toward modern comfortable dressing. I love the muted colors and ease of the garments, and the fact that they are all produced ethically in their Los Angeles factory. In addition, they support local and global causes with their profits!

This season, the wider leg, slightly cropped, high waisted trouser in a tencel-cotton blend is a lightweight everyday pant with a lovely hand and drape. The cool cotton blouse in a neutral blush pink has a bit of retro appeal and I always love a 3/4 sleeve. This linen jumpsuit is just the thing to throw on for a beach day, or slip a tee or tank underneath for more coverage. The leg is cropped and slightly wide. The Margot blouse is the one you'll reach for everyday, with a sweet rounded collar and boxy fit in a light crepe georgette.

Sponsored Story

Four Mile River Farm

While it seems that small family farms are becoming a thing of the past, Four Mile River Farm is enjoying the present and looking forward to the future. Started in 1985 by Nunz Corsino, the running of the farm is now shared by Nunz and his son Chris Bourne. While their cattle and pigs enjoy the land at Ashlawn

Farm in Lyme, at Four Mile River Road you'll find laying hens, meat birds and best of all, the farmstand. Porterhouse, t-bones and all cuts of beef, their special farmburgers, and brisket-short rib burgers, bacon, sausage, pork chops, and chicken fill the freezers in the farmstand. You can pick up fresh eggs and prepared foods such as beef chili, cheeseburger pies, chicken pot pies, and chicken chili. The beef jerky and pork candy are worth a visit. Open every day, the family hopes that your family will stop by.
