The work has a natural flow from data collection, to analysis, to outcomes and associated challenges around data collection and access. But our administrative challenges pale in comparison to the dangers faced by the men and women working on the front lines. After risking their lives to collect the computers, phones, and other material that we then analyze we then analyze.

Most of my professional career was spent doing incident response and digital forensics work. This sudden and tragic death of a peer within my professional community highlighted the importance of this work. As the assistance of recalcitrant victims is so unwilling to do so, as they are often disclosing information to law enforcement, but they are often unwilling to do so. As the assistance of recalcitrant victims is so unwilling to do so, as they are often.
