Science research facility tours begin:

The College of Science will begin hosting lab tours for prospective students and their families in October. The College of Science is hosting open house tours every Wednesday to allow prospective students and their families to meet new students, faculty, and learn about Mason’s research facilities. The college is hosting open houses at the以下是研究实验室：

RSVP NOW LIV
September 2, 2020 | 2 to 6 p.m. with District Trivia from 5-6 p.m.

Save the Date: Fourth Annual ScienceConnect
Wednesday, August 26, 2020 | noon to 3 p.m.

2020 Welcome2Mason Virtual Part-Time Job Fair
Friday, August 21, 2020 | 9 a.m. to 4 p.m

Antibodies.

Proteomics and Molecular Medicine
A team of Mason scientists, including lead researcher seals as early as 1988.

mammals from viral and bacterial outbreaks. Aguirre explained that canine morbillivirus was seen in

Policy chair of the Smithsonian Magazine recently quoted

Images Group via Getty Images)

by Bradley van Paridon (image from Arterra/Universal

Are on the Rise

Virginia,” project from Jordan Boyle, Seth Mahowald and Meghan Widmaier, a team mentored by

Research

Impact

Mason research projects were on virtual display at the document outlines the administration’s continued emphasis on FY2022 research and development (R&D) Budget Priorities. The Director Russ Vought and Office of Science and Technology

Fiscal Year 2022 Federal Administration discoveries, and where New Horizons will go next.

challenges caused by the COVID-19 pandemic.

will join an international alliance looking at the world-wide educational

(COVIDEA). The team of seven experts from all across the globe

Council (ISC) experts appointed to the COVID-Education Alliance

Associate Dean of Academic Affairs,

Science Council

Mason and the U.S. on International

College’s Padhu Seshaiyer represents

In this Issue

In our October newsletter, we will bring you more

Research & Discovery

In the News

Events

Stay Connected

© 2020 George Mason University